Race Rioting Renewed in Chicago—Guns, Knives and Razors Used

Death List Grows—Soldiers With Full War Equipment Ready—Battle in Jail

CHICAGO, July 29.—The police list of race riot fatalities rose to 24 at 10:30 a. m. today, when Thomas Joshua, negro, was killed by a detective who fired into a crowd of rioters on the south side, and when E. F. Hardy, negro, died at a hospital.

Practically none of the 15,000 negroes employed at the Chicago Union stockyards reported for work today.

The police today issued warnings for negroes to keep off the streets of the south side until order is restored.

In the Loop district this morning mobs of white men chased negroes for blocks shouting "kill the coons." The police used their sticks vigorously in rescuing the negroes.

Race Fight in Jail

A vicious race fight broke out in the county jail shortly after 11 o'clock. The whites outnumbered the blacks by 20 to 1, and the guards were swept aside when they tried to stifle the trouble at its start.

Racial disorders spread to the north side of the city today where a number of negroes were chased and threatened. Few negroes live in that section of the city.

4000 Troops On Scene

CHICAGO, July 29.—Four thousand soldiers with full war equipment stood ready today to quell the race rioting between negroes and whites that during two nights of terror in the south side black belt cost the lives of over a score of men and the injury of hundreds of others, many seriously and probably a dozen fatally. Four of the injured are soldiers.

$25,000 For Capture of Villa

EL PASO, Tex., July 29.—Governor Andres Ortiz of the state of Chihuahua has offered a reward of $25,000 gold for the capture, dead or alive of Francisco Villa, according to a Mexican merchant, who was here today from Chihuahua City. He said the offer appeared in an advertisement in one of the Chihuahua City newspapers.

SHOEWORKERS' STRIKE YOU'VE GOT TO PASS IT TO THIS FELLOW

Federal Shoe Shop Closed—

Union Officials and Company Make Statements

The latest development in the Allied Shoe Workers' strike, which went into effect Saturday, took place this morning when the entire plant of the Federal Shoe company in Dix street closed down. It was reported at the union headquarters in Middle street that this forenoon the superintendent of the plant called his help together and informed them that the plant would shut down for two weeks, this action, he said, being taken because of lack of orders. Union officials, however, state that the shut down was a result of the strike, for they claim that about 50 per cent of the Federal employees left their work yesterday morning.

Company's Statement

The following statement by the Federal Shoe company was handed The Sun today:

A large majority of the employees of the Federal Shoe company are in no way affiliated with the Allied union, and remained at work in spite of the Allied union strike order. These employees took a vote in the Federal Shoe company factory this morning and decided that rather than to submit to the insults and threats of the strikers from other factories, they would prefer to take advantage of the good weather and go on an indefinite vacation. The Federal Shoe company management is entirely in accord with this action, having planned for it a long ways in advance. All midsummer orders are filled and a large stock of manufactured goods accumulated.

Call For Workers

There was no meeting of the strikers this morning, but the men and women gathered at the hall just the same and discussed in an informal manner matters pertaining to the strike. In the course of the forenoon several calls for help, both male and female, were received from out-of-town concerns, and it was reported that some of the strikers had accepted positions in other cities. A special meeting of the members of the Allied Shoe Workers' union will be held in C.C.A. hall, Middle street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

COUNCIL HONORS AUDITOR PAIGE

Retiring Official Presented Purse of Gold and Set of Resolutions

Grist of Routine Business Transacted at This Morning's Regular Meeting

Charles D. Paige, who will leave the employ of the city this week after 14 years' service as city auditor, was honored at this morning's meeting of the municipal council in a very impressive demonstration on the part of the members of the council as well as the various department heads and clerks of city hall. He was presented a purse of gold and a set of resolutions, drawn up by Commissioners Charles J. Morse and James E. Donnelly, the two members of the council, who have served longest with Mr. Paige, was read by Mayor Thompson and will later be given to Mr. Paige in engraved form as well as spread on the records of the city.

The resolutions extend to Mr. Paige the commendation of the council for his efficient service and successful administration of the office of auditor. Although greatly surprised and naturally diffident, the auditor made a most graceful and gracious speech of acceptance.

The meeting was called at 10:47 with all members present.

Hearings were held on the petitions of Alfred Giguere for a garage at 773-775 Merrimack street and Thomas A. Brady for a garage at 7 East Merrimack street. Both matters were referred to Commissioner Morse.

The petition of A. D. Butters for gasoline at Pond and Perry streets and Clara L. Conant for a garage and gasoline at 216 East Merrimack street were held for hearings Sept. 2.

The petition of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. and the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. for the relocation of a pole in Osgood street was referred to Commissioner Murphy and similar action was taken on the petition of the same parties for the relocation of a jointly owned pole in Rogers street between Pleasant and High streets.

The petition of Patrick J. Flawley for a sidewalk at 517 Wilder street was ordered to remain in the city clerk's office for seven days.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the following petitions and upon his recommendation the accompanying orders were adopted:

CHICAGO, July 29.—Fifteen thousand street railway employees went on strike for higher wages at 4 o'clock this morning, completely tying up the surface and elevated systems of the city.

The companies made no attempt to run cars and workers depended on steam railways, automobiles and other vehicles to reach their places of business. Early last night, heads of the unions and officials of the street railway companies reached an agreement to fix the wages of the men at approximately 65 cents an hour and

LOCAL SUGAR SUPPLY STILL RESTRICTED

Although market conditions are such this week as to permit a greater influx of sugar than has been the case during the past ten days, Lowell's supply is still restricted and in many instances housewives are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing adequate amounts. A limit of two pounds to a customer is in effect in several retail stores, while others have refused point blank to supply sugar to any but their regular trade.

When questioned this morning, two wholesale grocers said: "We are indeed having a lot of trouble in obtaining sugar in amounts sufficient to accommodate retailers and there is an actual shortage. The cases are several. One is a huge export trade and the marine strike also has had its effects upon the movement of shipments."

A downtown retailer in groceries said: "We have sugar on hand, but the amount is so comparatively small that we must skimp and therefore

SMITH BLAMES HIGHER OFFICERS

Places Responsibility for Cruel Treatment of U. S. Soldiers at Prison Farm

"Hardboiled" Smith Accuses

Maj. Gen. Strong and Col.

Grimstead at Hearing

NEW YORK, July 29.—Responsibility for cruel treatment of American soldiers at prison farm No. 2 near Paris was placed squarely upon the shoulders of Major General F. Strong and Col. E. P. Grimstead by Lieut. Frank H. (Hardboiled) Smith in testimony given by him today before a subcommittee of the house of representatives at Governor's Island.

Asked by Representative Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota, chairman of the subcommittee if his superior officers were acquainted with conditions in the prison and if he considered them responsible for them, Smith replied: "Absolutely. Those higher in authority knew everything that took place in prison."

Ruthless Severity

"What were our orders when you were placed in command?"

Smith replied that he had been told by Col. Grimstead that the orders of General Strong were that prisoners were to be treated with most ruthless severity.

"Grimstead told me," Smith added, "that the men were to be treated as general prisoners."

Not Independent of League

The president told the senate the purpose of the treaty was to provide assistance for France in case of unprovoked aggression by Germany without waiting for the advice of the council of the League of Nations that such action should be taken and explained that it was to be an arrangement, "not independent of the League of Nations, but under it."

"The covenant of the League of Nations," the president said, "provides for military action for the protection of its members only upon the advice of the council of the league—advice given, it is to be presumed, only upon deliberation and acted upon by each of the governments of the member states only if its own judgment justifies such action."

Bound By Ties of Friendship

Pointing out that the treaty "shall receive the approval of the council of the league," the president said it would remain in force "only until, upon the application of one of the parties to it, the council of the league, acting, if necessary, by a majority vote, shall agree that the provisions of the covenant of the league afford her (France) sufficient protection."

Mr. Wilson said he was moved to sign the treaty by the ties of friendship binding the two countries and the assistance France gave America in its struggle for independence. Without this assistance, the president said, it was seriously to be doubted whether America could have won its independence, and added: "Nothing can pay such a debt."

MEN WANTED FOR MOTOR TRANSPORT CORPS

The motor transport corps is only one of the several branches of the army endeavoring to build up its personnel through enlistment and is offering an excellent schedule of opportunities to the young man with any military inclinations.

This arm of the service is a war baby, like aviation, but has developed rapidly and thoroughly until now it has grown to a size sufficient to claim for itself due recognition in the machinery of the country's establishment.

The business of operating motor transportation is a technical one and depends upon a personnel possessing special knowledge and skill in high degree. In order to acquire and keep a proper personnel for the works of the corps it is necessary to create it by training. Men skilled in automobile vehicle operation and repair do not exist in anything like adequate numbers for the requirements of civil life. They are not being created at present either rapidly enough or well enough to at all meet present industrial needs. The old apprentice system now hardly exists and was inefficient when in full force. Factories now train machine operators, whose knowledge is limited to tending automatic or semi-automatic machines and thus try to get along with the very minimum of real mechanics. In consequence skillful and competent automotive mechanics command wages that render them absolutely unattainable to the army under peace conditions. The army has no option in the matter and enters the field of vocational training because there is no other way.

The training planned by the motor transport corps is a series of courses in vocational schools, alternating with periods of production work in the shops, service park units or with operating units in the field. Since the schools are being created primarily for the benefit of the corps and as a means of making the latter efficient, it is naturally not contemplated that a large part of the enlistment period of each man will be devoted to school work. Men of all grades of ability, experience, skill, education and intelligence will be accepted for enlistment and every man will receive training of some sort.

There are five courses of instruction, as follows:

He will be able to drive any type of car or truck and will be eligible for the position of chauffeur of fine private cars or as truck master for commercial concerns operating fleets of trucks. This type of man is in growing demand and wages offered him are from $30 a week up.

For the average repair man who contemplates one of the nine different shop courses available, the automotive world is waiting. The list of fundamental trades into which the man from these courses will go respectively at the expiration of enlistment is approximately as follows:

Mechanics' course: Become bench hands, machine operators on grinders, milling machines, lathes and drills, engine, transmission and axle assemblies.

EUROPEAN CORN BORER SPREADING HERE

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 29.—Reports received at the department of agriculture yesterday indicate that the European corn borer is spreading rapidly in the districts of Lawrence, Lowell, Haverhill, Bedford, Billerica, Methuen, Buxford, Brockton, Essex, Georgetown, Hanover, Groveland, Holbrook, Ipswich, Lincoln, Marshfield, Merrimack, Newburyport, Norwell, Rockport, Salisbury, Tewksbury, Wayland, Weston and Weymouth.

It is believed at the department that New Hampshire has the pest already, as virtually all the border towns on this side of the line have been infected. It is expected that the scourge will spread into Maine.

The department has set up a laboratory in the state house where the suspicious cases which the field scouts discover are sent for treatment, so as to make sure of what the trouble is before being pronounced as the "borer."

In this laboratory are specimens of corn on the cob which have been brought in from the Boston market, and the pupa of the borer has been found in the middle of the cob. Great care is being taken that the pest shall not be transferred from the Boston market into the territory still free from it. It is almost impossible, however, to make sure of this not coming about as the worm is hidden inside the plant and its presence is revealed principally by the little hole made where it bored in.

There are two generations of the borer in one season. It hibernates in the form of a caterpillar in the stalks or stems of the plants where it finds lodgment. In the spring these caterpillars emerge and begin the destruction which has been so widespread. They are now passing into the pupa state in the stalks and stems and the female moth being a night flyer it is difficult to prevent the spread of the pest. The eggs which they lay now will hatch, their caterpillars will pupate, become moths, and will lay eggs which will hatch into the generation

COURT DECREE GAVE DONHAM $50,000

In a recent communication to the Haverhill Gazette, Rep. George Pearl Webster made a statement to the effect that the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway had voted an award of $50,000 to Wallace B. Donham as receiver of the Bay State street railway.

This is an erroneous statement to which Mr. Cummings of the public relations department of the street railway very properly calls attention in a letter to the editor of the Gazette, the first paragraph and substance of which reads as follows:

"By a decree of the United States district court and not by any vote or decision of the public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway company was Wallace B. Donham, receiver of the Bay State street railway company awarded the fee, complaint against which has been made by Rep. George Pearl Webster of Bedford in a recent newspaper communication."

ASK MINIMUM WAGE OF $34 A WEEK

LAWRENCE, July 29.—Woolen spinners, employed in the Wood and Kunhardt's mills here and in Stevens and Sutton's mills in North Andover, have asked for a minimum wage of $34 a week. At the present time they are paid amounts varying from $23 to $33. They also want a change made in the price lists. There are about 100 in this city who are connected with the Woolen Spinners' union. It is understood that similar demands have been made in Lowell. The union members will meet tonight to discuss the situation.

ROB GARAGE AND KIDNAP WATCHMAN

BOSTON, July 29.—Automobile accessory thieves, after robbing a West Roxbury garage early today, kidnapped the watchman, James Crohan and carried him to Lexington, 15 miles away. They appeared at the garage, Crohan told the police while he was dozing. He tried to prevent the thefts of tires and one of the men fired a revolver, apparently to frighten him, he said. After leading their big car with accessories, the thieves took Crohan and fled.

MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN JITNEY AND TROLLEY

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 28.—The people must choose between the jitneys and the trolley companies and they must make their decision quickly. The question of whether the trolley shall stay is up to them, and them alone.

This was the reply of one of the most prominent street railway men in the state today when on his calling at the governor's office to inquire into the activities of the new commission to investigate the trolley situation he was asked to state his views upon a topic he was fully competent to discuss as any man in the country.

According to him there is no further time for "monkeying" with the situation, and, while he was hopeful that the street railway companies might survive until the autumn, even against the jitney competition, he made it plain that, in the opinion of most men connected with the transportation industry, the situation in some communities is such that the trolley cars are operated at an almost 100 per cent. loss.

This is particularly true on the Eastern Massachusetts lines, he said, where in some of the cities like Lynn, cars are running through the streets with nobody on board. In one of the communities served by this road, he continued, there is no such a thing as a straphanger, and in many of them a man braves the contempt of his neighbors when he rides upon a trolley car.

The jitneys have taken the cream of the suburban business with the result that the street car companies are merely marking time, awaiting the day when there will be a change of sentiment. He cited the case of Newburyport on the Massachusetts Northeastern, where public sentiment favors the jitney because, as they said, it renders better service. He qualified the statement by saying that he meant quicker service, especially to Amesbury and Salisbury Beach.

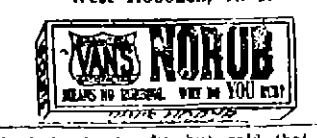

He was asked what he would sug-

Best as a remedy, but said that he did not know unless it was some plan by which the public, through taxation or some other means, should contribute to the support of the service in the interest of community welfare.

"It is idle to talk of solving the problem in any other way—there must be new revenue secured in some way. It may be that there is now business to be secured, in which case the street railways will be glad to learn of it. But the case is very simple—no amount of juggling in the effort to make the present revenue return spread over a large surface will come to anything. New revenue must be secured and it makes little difference in the transportation scheme whether it comes from new business or from a tax levy. If the people want the service they must pay for it, one way or another."

The taxation plan the speaker touched upon in an entirely new angle.

"If the people are taxed to support the roads," he said, "they undoubtedly will believe that they are being asked to pay to support street railways. However, by thinking upon the subject at length I believe they can be made to realize that their taxes will not be used to keep the trolleys running but rather to keep the jitneys in operation. That seems a strange statement to make, I realize, and yet I am convinced it is a sound one. Anyone familiar with the street railway situation knows well enough that the trolleys can be made to pay if they can secure all the patronage available; this is, if they can get all the traffic now borne by the jitneys. It follows then that if this is not done and a tax is imposed the people will be paying for the privilege of keeping the jitneys in existence, not in supporting the trolleys."

DECLARES BIG PACKERS CONTROL PRICES

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Ability of the "big five" packers—Swift, Armour, Morris, Cudahy and Wilson—to determine from day to day the general level of livestock prices was declared in a controversial report in the third section of the federal trade commission's report on the industry made public yesterday.

Information obtained in the commission's investigation was cited to show that the "big five" have an interest in 28 of the 50 principal market yards of the country and a majority of voting stock in 22 others. It was said they buy most of the livestock sold at these markets.

"They discriminate against and put at great disadvantage independent buyers, who are their competitors," the report said. "They manipulate on occasions the livestock market in such a way as to cause extreme and unwarranted fluctuations in the daily prices paid for livestock. They have eliminated many competitors and prevented new ones from coming into it. They have restricted the meat supply of the nation by manipulating the daily livestock prices and thus discovering the producers of livestock."

"Of the meat trade in the hands of interstate slaughterers in the United States, the five big packing companies have more than 73 per cent of the total. They have the prices of dressed meat and packing house products so well in hand that, within certain limitations, meat prices are made to respond to their wishes."

Notwithstanding special advantages sold to be enjoyed by the five big packers, the commission declared it was not demonstrable that they are more efficient than the "independents."

In tracing the ownership of the various stockyards, the commission, in its report, devoted much attention to the "remarkable financial devices" known as the bearer warrant, which it was said might be used not only to hide completely true ownership, but also was equally effective in making possible the evasion of income, corporation and sur-tax if it came into more general use. Such a warrant is a receipt for a stock certificate, the latter being made out to the treasurer of the corporation, who delivers the warrant to the person who actually owns the stock. In this way it would be possible for a stockholder to receive dividends and vote without his identity being known.

J. Ogden Armour was said by the commission to own 19.4 per cent of the Chicago Stockyards company, but the use of bearer warrants was asserted to have prevented the commission from discovering who owned the other stock. Much of the commission's report dealt with matters already made public in the hearings conducted by Francis J. Heney as special investigator for the commission.

Swift Denies Charge

CHICAGO, July 29.—Louis F. Swift, president of Swift and Company, said yesterday:

"The federal trade commission is basing its report, piece meal, apparently with the idea of keeping up a continuous agitation against the packing industry. This latest broadside, according to such report as I have seen, repeats the same old charges, contains the same misrepresentation, and does our industry the same injustice, as in previous reports."

Local Sugar Supply

have limited an individual sale to a maximum of two pounds. We were practically unable to get any sugar the latter part of last week, but the market is a little better now, but does not even approach normal, or the amount we need to satisfy all of our customers."

It has been said that while Lowell is experiencing this shortage, the neighboring city of Lawrence has plenty of sugar available in its wholesale and retail establishments, but when this phase of the situation was broached to a local wholesale merchant today he said such a statement is entirely without foundation and that Lawrence is having exactly the same difficulty as is being felt here.

Several incidents which have occurred during attempts of Lowell families to purchase sugar during the past week have been brought to light. In one case after fruitless search for sugar had been made in this city the family drove to Lawrence in quest of it. They stopped at the first grocery store they came to and went in as perfect strangers to timidly ask in an undertone: "May we have a pound of sugar?"

"Certainly," replied the clerk. "Somehow bought up by the alacrity of the answer, the purchaser said: "May I have two pounds?"

"Yes," was the uninterested reply. Growing more bold, but still asking in a whisper to avoid confusion, the Lowell housekeeper leaned forward and said, "Do you suppose I might have five pounds?"

The clerk showed signs of exasperation and replied, "Why of course you may have five pounds, or any amount you want."

"Do you mean to say you have a lot of sugar on hand?" gasped the Lowell traveler.

"We have a whole storeroom full of it," answered the clerk, "and I will sell you any amount you name."

The transaction eventually closed when the local people left the store with 30 pounds of this household necessity and started homeward.

Lowell dealers, however, say that this incident is not a true criterion of the Lawrence situation and that wholesalers and retailers in the latter city are having just as hard a time in obtaining shipments as are the local men.

A man tried to purchase one pound of sugar in a local store last evening and at the outset was told, "we haven't any." But he had noticed a barrel at least three-quarters filled standing in back of the counter and after indignantly inquiring what the sugar in the barrel was to be used for and saying that he purchased groceries at that same store almost daily, the clerk reached beneath the counter and gave him a pound of sugar already done up in a bag. The cost was 11 cents, a cent or two in excess of the recent prevailing price, but less than the charge per pound in some other stores.

In rebuttal to any statements made to the effect that local dealers are attempting to hoard their supply, they say they are simply endeavoring to make what little they have go as far as possible and to as many different persons as possible.

It has been said that while Lowell is experiencing this shortage, the neighboring city of Lawrence has plenty of sugar available in its wholesale and retail establishments, but when this phase of the situation was broached to a local wholesale merchant today he said such a statement is entirely without foundation and that Lawrence is having exactly the same difficulty as is being felt here.

Several incidents which have occurred during attempts of Lowell families to purchase sugar during the past week have been brought to light. In one case after fruitless search for sugar had been made in this city the family drove to Lawrence in quest of it. They stopped at the first grocery store they came to and went in as perfect strangers to timidly ask in an undertone: "May we have a pound of sugar?"

"Certainly," replied the clerk. "Somehow bought up by the alacrity of the answer, the purchaser said: "May I have two pounds?"

"Yes," was the uninterested reply. Growing more bold, but still asking in a whisper to avoid confusion, the Lowell housekeeper leaned forward and said, "Do you suppose I might have five pounds?"

Objects to Converting Protestant Chapel Into Catholic Uses

LONDON, July 29.—The Berlin newspapers say that the former German emperor has written to the Archbishop of Posen asking him to preserve the Protestant chapel at Posen castle for Protestant services and not to convert it to Catholic uses. He said that it would be unbearable to him to have Roman Catholic services celebrated in the chapel, into which he had put his whole soul and in which he prayed for victory for Germany.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND THEATRE

Two very delightful photo-plays head the program at the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. They are "A Man of Honor" and "A Girl at Bay".

"A Man of Honor" deals with the Tropical Products Co., doing business somewhere in the Indies, and for which Lockwood as Smith was assistant manager. The head of the concern was money mad and it did not matter how he got it so long as he made it. He had a mania for boosting stock values, for increasing capitalization and for injecting water into stock. To him the stockholders were but dummies from whom he could squeeze money, and it was his hobby to have his manager write boosting reports of the goings of the company. The manager became ill and prior to his death he confessed to Smith that the whole situation of the company was one of fraud. When Smith was put in control he decided to run the company on the level or resign, and he made good. The president of the company, still bent on conquest, wanted a report to read to his directors so that the over-capitalization scheme might go through and he had his report all written, ready to be read. Smith decided that the only way to put an end to the camouflage was to arrest the president and his followers and prevent them from attending the stockholders' meeting, and he did. In the party was the president's daughter, who loved Smith and who was being loved by the latter. She pleaded with Smith, but her pleadings were of no avail. For Smith had promised to be on the level and he kept it. While the whole situation was being held prisoners there came a storm which uncovered the treasure of an old pirate and this was found by the president's daughter. She turned the treasure over to Smith, who utilized it in putting back the company on its feet, and the story ends with Smith not only being the president but also winning his daughter.

"A Girl at Bay" unfolds the story of a young woman who is being sought by a young judge, who was found dead. The young woman knows that the finger of suspicion points to her and in order to hide herself she gets a position as stenographer to the brother of the dead man, and love comes between them. The young man believes the young woman knows something about the crime, but is convinced that she did not do the killing. He believes that if he can reproduce the surroundings of the crime and bring the girl into them he can at once decide whether she is guilty or not and his plan is worked out. The scenes that follow are mighty interesting and may be seen to be thoroughly appreciated.

Included in this week's bill are the Hearst International pictures, which show interesting scenes in various parts of the country. There is also a live comedy of the Christie type, while the vocal selections by Mildred Efford are very pleasing. The three leaders in the song contest are: Robert Carr, 22,845; Walter Sheehan, 22,315; and Peggy O'Reilly 28,000.

"OPEN YOUR EYES" SPECIAL STUDY

NO. 7 ON GILBERT P. HAMILTON, DIRECTOR

Gilbert P. Hamilton, who directed "Open Your Eyes" when it was prepared under the supervision of the United States Public Health Service, began his connection with the motion picture industry 25 years ago, when he astonished the natives of Chebeague Island, Maine, by deciding not to follow in his father's footsteps. Hamilton, Sr., was a sea captain, but after one voyage young Hamilton spent five years as a clerk at a shipping wharf. Starting to work at five in the morning and going home to supper at eight at night, by a series of promotions, he finally became the superintendent of a coal dock and steamboat ticket agent. The monotony of his life prompted him to leave his native haunts and he secured a position in the developing department of the Edison company. After learning the fundamental principles of photography he identified himself with the Biograph company as a camera man. His next position was with George K. Spoor in the old Kine-drome company, where he was employed as superintendent of factory and studios. Possessing possible millions in picture productions, he was one of four incorporators of the American and was afterwards for two years and a half general manager of the St. Louis Maying Picture company. He also organized the Albuquerque Company. He has directed many productions including "The Price of Crime," "The Perils of the Fleet," "The Love of the Red Man," "Even Unto Death," "Inherited Passions," "Miss Robinson Crusoe," "The Maternal Spark" and "Open Your Eyes." He considers this last named his masterpiece.

The exhibition will be given by one of the biggest fireworks concerns in the country, and expense has not been spared to make it attractive. It is free to you.

grant an eight-hour day with time and a half for overtime. It was thought this action would avert a walkout, but at a mass meeting shortly before midnight the men repudiated the agreement and voted to strike.

The employees demanded 85 cents an hour, an increase of 77 per cent. over present wages, an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime.

To H— With the Public

Six thousand attended the meeting at the carmen's auditorium at which the strike vote was carried. L. D. Bland, member of the international board of the union, attempted to place the terms of the agreement as to wages before the meeting. Getting a brief hearing, he said:

"Remember, men, we are not fighting the traction companies in this matter. We are fighting the Chicago public."

"To hell with the public; the public

The compromise would have involved a seven cent surface fare, possibly one cent for transfers and an eight-cent elevated fare.

FALL RIVER, July 29.—The employees of the Swansea & Seekonk Street Railway Co. issued a statement yesterday, saying that differences had arisen between them and the executive board of the company and that if the matter were not adjusted by Aug. 2, a strike would be declared.

Regains Appetite When She Takes Advice of Cousin

Connecticut Woman Strongly Recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills For Stomach Trouble

"The advice of a cousin, given after many medicines had failed to check my loss of strength, has resulted in my restoration to health," says Mrs. H. A. Hickman, of No. 76 Jackson street, Ansonia, Conn. "I had been ill for five years and nothing helped me. I was steadily losing strength and daily becoming more nervous. Everything I ate soured on my stomach and I had severe indigestion pains which deprived me of many hours of sleep. My blood was very thin and my color was poor. My heart palpitated wildly at times and I was almost too weak to get about."

"Urged by my cousin I finally procured a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began the treatment. It was not a great while before my stomach became much stronger and I could eat without worrying about the distress which before taking the pills was sure to result. My appetite improved and now I sleep soundly, am refreshed in the morning and feel like doing my work. My heart no longer palpitates as it did and my blood is much richer. Today I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as strongly as my cousin did and I have great faith in them as a tonic remedy."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing fifty cents for one box or $2.50 for six boxes. Write today for the free booklet "What to Eat and How to Eat."—Adv.

For Public Ownership

BOSTON, July 29.—The city council passed orders unanimously yesterday calling for public ownership of the Boston Elevated Railway and for a reference to the people of the question whether they would prefer a 5-cent fare and pay any deficit in taxes. The present fare is 10 cents. One order requests Gov. Currier to decide it

The compromise would have involved a seven cent surface fare, possibly one cent for transfers and an eight-cent elevated fare.

The association also voted appreciation to the company for their attitude in handling the demand of the men. The former rate was 45 cents an hour and the raise means a weekly increase of about $5 in the men's salaries. The raise is retroactive to July 1.

New Bedford Men Get Raise

NEW BEDFORD, July 29.—At a special meeting of the New Bedford Street Railways' Employees' association held last night, it was unanimously voted that the offer of the Union Street Railway company to pay a maximum rate of 55 cents an hour be accepted.

Fall River Men Strike

FALL RIVER, July 29.—The employees of the Swansea & Seekonk Street Railway Co. issued a statement yesterday, saying that differences had arisen between them and the executive board of the company and that if the matter were not adjusted by Aug. 2, a strike would be declared.

TWO ASSETS

It is unsatisfactory to be in a position where you realize you have lost considerable business because people didn't know about you. In other words, you failed to advertise your name and the line of goods you sell.

Time waits for no man. No day falters. It is as if the dying day said, "Tomorrow is my brother and if you prepare in advance, he will lend himself to your profit and your advantage." Time is an asset only as you convert it into one. Advertising is one of the arts you may use to turn the shopping day into an asset of potential profit.

Combine wise advertising with time as two important elements of prosperity for every progressive business. In your advertising, you will find that it will do you the greatest good when your ad is in

HIGH BUILDING COSTS

Unfortunately the idea seems to prevail among our public officials who are charged with the responsibility of erecting school buildings, that the present high cost of labor and materials will be a sufficient defense against any charge of waste or extravagance, however well founded.

It is true that the cost of labor and building material is now nearly twice as high as it was a few years ago; but that does not justify the building department in soaking the city by planning schoolhouses, or any other buildings for that matter, with a lot of unnecessary accessories, elaborate decorations and expensive finish. On the contrary, the fact that the cost of labor and material is so high, makes it imperative to plan our buildings in a plain, substantial and unelaborate style, so that we may secure the school accommodation necessary, at a minimum cost. To do anything else under present conditions, will prove either incapacity or deliberate extravagance.

The man of limited resources who planned a dwelling four or five years ago might be able to include elaborate detail, ornamental finish, sun rooms and luxurious bath fixtures, but today unless he has money to burn, he will eliminate all that is non-essential or what is merely decorative, thus getting down to a plain, serviceable and substantial structure.

Now the city of Lowell is certainly limited in the amount of funds available for building purposes and must therefore adopt a similar policy. Somehow, it happens that when this city wants to build, there are certain people who think that no ordinary building will do; that we must go into extraordinary expense by providing for an array of accessories and an elaboration of non-essential detail that nearly doubles the total cost.

We find that the average contractor can show satisfactory results in spite of the high prices. Other towns and cities are applying the policy of simple design and strict economy in the construction of their buildings to meet their urgent needs. Why cannot Lowell officials adopt the same policy or why, in these times of high prices, should they soak the city for architectural follies, needless elaboration and useless detail?

The city of Boston and the town of Maynard may be mentioned as among those municipalities in which our city officials can find plan, up to date school buildings erected at little over one-half the estimated cost of similar buildings in Lowell. Why should there be any such discrepancy in the cost of building operations here and elsewhere? We do not believe there is any excuse for such a difference. All that is necessary to attain as good results here as in any other city, is simplicity of design, the elimination of fantastic accessories that serve only to pile up the expense, and then strict economy all along the line.

What others do in the building line why can't we? All that is necessary is to cut out the frills and get a dollar's worth for every dollar expended. Then in spite of the high prices, the building difficulties complained of by the school department and the public property department will disappear.

CANADA'S DEMAND

The Dominion of Canada is beginning to show a desire for more of the attributes of nationhood. After making such a sacrifice in the world's war, such a feeling on the part of Canada, is very natural. It is reasonable to suppose that many of the Canadians ask themselves why they should be ready to sacrifice so many lives in the interest of the mother country without some tangible return.

The only return Canada is supposed to get for all her sacrifices is protection from England against invasion by other powers. We do not know that Canada has been in any danger of invasion or that this protection has been of any special advantage. Whether it has or not is perhaps a matter of little importance. It has been customary for small nationalities without any navy or military power of their own to put themselves under the wing of some great power just as Canada has been linked to Great Britain for over a century. Canada at the present time wants the privilege of having a special ambassador represent her at the capital of the United States. Such an envoy would be of immense value to Canada in bringing about a perfect understanding on many points of mutual interest on which under present conditions there might be some disagreement.

In the past the United States government has had considerable controversy with Canada, or rather with the British authorities representing Canada, over the question of reciprocity and the fisheries dispute settled in the days of James G. Blaine. It is only reasonable to suppose that between two countries so closely connected as the United States and Canada, there will always be the possibility of misunderstandings which might easily be cleared away by a special envoy at Washington.

It is to be hoped that Great Britain will offer no objection to this proposition on the part of Canada as it is apparently necessary in the ordinary mode of transacting business between adjoining nations.

SEN. LODGE AND SHANTUNG

Republican "strong men" in the senate, and particularly Senator Lodge, long noted for his familiarity with and interest in foreign affairs, are moved to tears over the "crime of Shantung." Because of Japan's acquisition of the territory that Germany grabbed from China, Senator Lodge and others would reject the peace treaty and throw the League of Nations covenant into the bonfire.

It is more than passing strange that Senator Lodge should suddenly develop so deep an interest in China's territorial integrity after the lapse of twenty-one years during which he was silent and stone cold on that subject.

It was in 1897-98 that the international robbery was committed and Shantung passed to the possession of Germany. Senator Lodge was then in the senate, President McKinley was in the White House, the republicans were in control everywhere. Senator Teller and some leaders of the opposition party denounced the dismemberment of China and declared it to be America's duty to "join with Great Britain in a notice to Russia and Germany that dismemberment will not be permitted."

Did Senator Lodge define a similar attitude for himself? Not until the lapse of twenty-one years, then to suddenly burst into tears, to be moved to intense indignation by the transfer of a bit of territory from one international robber to another strong-arm nation whose title is at least no worse than was that of the imperialistic country Senator Lodge saw commit the original robbery without so much as lifting his voice in protest. Verily, the years have softened the Massachusetts senator's heart, but have failed to make consistency his jewel.

THE GERMAN CROWN

German papers are now bringing out the claim that the Kaiser did not renounce the imperial crown of Germany. It appears in fact that in order to save him and the government, the then chancellor announced that the Kaiser had abdicated before anything of the kind had actually occurred. Whether the alleged renunciation afterwards given to the press was genuine or was counterfeit as the original announcement, remains to be determined.

For all present and future purposes, however, it doesn't make the slightest difference whether the Kaiser renounced the throne or whether he simply made his escape leaving the throne to anybody who might take it. At the present time the crown and the throne and the office of Kaiser and the general staff and the crown prince, together with a great many of the other attributes and appurtenances of imperialism in Germany, have all been swept away, never to be restored to power or authority.

What concerns the ex-Kaiser now is not whether he will get back the crown but whether he will escape the trial as proposed by the allies, for precipitating the war and for violating the conventions of The Hague tribunal and the plainest dictates of international law. Whether he has or has not renounced the throne of Germany will have little effect upon that ordeal.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION

It would not be surprising to find more trouble on the Eastern Street Railway system for the purpose of enforcing the demand for higher wages. The men want 75 cents per hour or an increase of 30 cents, with an 8 hour day and other conditions different from those now in force. The question is now before the War Labor Board for decision. As we have already intimated, there is urgent need for a law providing for compulsory arbitration on all corporations serving the public. When a question of wages comes in conflict between employer and employee, a strike is liable to occur just as if the public had no rights and no interests in the matter whatever. This should not be the case. The present method of having the state board of arbitration and conciliation hang around until it is called in by both sides is practically useless. This board should be abolished or else given authority to take hold of a strike or any wage controversy and settle it in a thoroughly fair and judicial manner. Until some law of this kind is enacted, the public will be at the mercy of hot headed agitators on the one hand, and obstinate corporation officials on the other.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE

While the politicians in Washington are wasting time over discussions of war expenditures, it seems that Germany and England are busy planning how to secure the trade of South American countries. Already a German commission has landed in Argentina to make arrangements for securing raw material in exchange for manufactured products. We doubt whether any practical steps have been taken by the government at Washington to control a large portion of the South American trade as we certainly should do now that we have the ships and the commodities which the South American republics need. It is one thing to have a merchant marine and another to use it to advantage.

The court trial at Hillsfield where a heartbroken mother is being tried because she killed her little 3-year-old boy while either temporarily insane or in a fit of temper at her husband, is sad and sorry enough. The woman told the arresting officer that she was a Californian and that "we are a hot blooded, impetuous people in that state." The little boy dead was the fruit of the woman's third marriage. There is some doubt as to whether Massachusetts justice will wish to blame California's climate for a crime thus unrestrained, unnatural mother committed.

We read a bulletin yesterday, "senate starts tenth week on debate of peace treaty." When we read it we were glad the American army in France a year ago this time wasn't composed of the same kind of minds as are debating the peace treaty in Washington at this time. It was felt that if they had been, it might have been a good many years before the United States senate got a chance to debate a peace treaty.

It is interesting to read what the United States shipping board says it will do in the matter of building two new transatlantic liners bigger, faster and longer than any ships yet built, but many of us will be glad to read with a view to results, some account of what the United States shipping board has done.

Dandelion Real Mule

If the Ontario temperance act is to be properly enforced in Essex county prohibition workers say, the prolific dandelion must be eliminated from pastures and back yards of the border country. Records of Windsor police court seem to bear out this contention. In less than one week ten convictions were made here for drunkenness. Eight of the offenders claimed their intoxication was due to drinking wine made from dandelions. Analysis of some of the wine seized by officers of the provincial licensing department showed it to be more "kick" than either raisin whiskey or the genuine article, while the "hang-over" qualities of the dandelion concoction were evident from the condition of the men who appeared in court. —Toronto Globe.

And Ohio Is Dry

Somewhere in the neighborhood of the aqueduct and the ruins of Emmetts mills and the old distillery building in Waverly, Ohio, is a snake which, those who claim to have seen it declare, is all of 20 feet long and as big in diameter as a telephone pole. Two years ago this snake was seen by Gus Reed, last year another party saw it, and a few days ago Mr. Reed saw it cross the road, leaving in the dust its track, which measured ten inches in width.

Some Hens Are Easy

Mrs. Mollie Tucker, of Petersburg, Ind., had a selling hen. One day bid- dy left the nest to grab off a bite of food, and the old cat carried her litter of kittens and placed them in the warm nest. When the hen returned she thought her eggs had hatched out a flock of kittens, and she has been taking care of them ever since. That, according to Mrs. Tucker, gave the hen a lot of time to go visiting. The only clashes between hen and cat come when the cat brings home a mouse and tries to smuggle it into the nest for the kittens. Pur flies then.

Cream In The Well

We all have seen a sultry sport Along in mid-July When gallus buckles stain your shirt As black as whisker dye; When jackknives rust and sideboards "seize." And lightstand doors beswell— That's when we used to put the cream Way down inside the well.

When burdock wilt and salshekas balk And Jack writes through your shirt; When robins pant and woodchucks walk And hens lay down to eat; When grindstones crack at dead of night— And sometimes jars of jelly— That's when the cream pail had to go At twilight down the well.

The last of all the chores and cares A "scorcher" brought about. Was running down the bulkhead stairs To fetch the cream pail out; With butter cream and a pound Or less no cream to sell; Or use or lose—we kept it sweet Way down inside the well.

We had a butchering gambrel 'round To lay across the top Of Mr. Well, because we found It wouldn't hold the rope. To this we salivated the rope. For if a thing befell That rigging, what a mess there'd be Way down inside the well.

It made a feller stop and think. To steady down that pail. For when the bottom struck the drink There still was time to fail; And such glad sounds come crumping up.

You held your breath a spell— 'Twas ticklish business putting cream Way down our deep old well.

But now the trucks come 'round and gleam The cream, and sad but true, They've built a tank for gasoline Inside the well I knew; There's nothing left but these old thoughts.

That ring a little knell Of recollections over the cream We stored down the well. —Daniel L. Cady, in Burlington Free Press.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

I wonder if soldiers who served with the American army of occupation in Germany had an opportunity to talk with some of the members of the German civilian population and find out what their point of view was. I had a talk with my old friend, Eriv. Peter Drukas of Wakefield, who was in Lowell yesterday on business and he says he found several Germans able to speak fluent English. One man for instance said to him, "Although we are licked, as a nation, we are the best off we have ever been. For generations we were oppressed and taxed to support a militarist party. It made our living cost twice as much as it ought to. We could do nothing. It took the great war and our nation being defeated by the allies and the United States, to remove the curse of militarism from among our oppressors. This is the reason that although we have been defeated and thousands of our men killed, we shall start the future in a condition better for the common people, than was ever the case before."

There are some streets in this city on which there is a total absence of children. Somehow the people who don't want children around have a knack of getting together in colonies. If a family having one or more children locates in such a street, there is trouble right away. The very sight of the children seems to annoy the neighbors and woe be to the little one who, through childish simplicity enters a neighbor's yard if the trail owner is close by. A few days ago a little girl about five years of age entered the yard of a neighbor on a street leading off outer Middlesex street and was cuffed and slapped on both sides of the head by a woman who used both her hands with all her force upon the child. The little one was thrown into a hysterical condition and the parents are inquiring whether there is any remedy for such treatment of children.

Automobile truck owners of this city report that they have been kept very busy practically all the summer taking parties to the summer resorts, for most of the outings to the seashore are now being conducted in automobile trucks. Hereafter, or prior to the time that old "Bill" Bay State raised its fares, there was hardly a week, particularly during June, July and August, that there was not one or more special cars conveying excursionists to the beaches. But things have changed and trucks have been pressed into service, due, it is said, to the high cost of transportation via electric trolleys. The Thursday excursion to Revere and Nahant under the auspices of the electric railway have been dropped and now most of those who wish to spend a day at the seashore travel by steam railroad, for what is lost in cash is made up in time. It is safe to state that unless old "Bill" comes down on his prices the truck owners and the steam railroads will keep on doing the business.

The necessity of sending the original discharge papers of the Lowell men who served in the world war to the state treasury department at Boston in connection with the applications for the $100 gratuity to be given by the state has resulted in considerable inconvenience to Lowell ex-service men. For instance, one young man who saw overseas service has sent his discharge paper to Boston and a few days ago had an opportunity to accept an excellent position with a local concern. One essential proviso was that he show his discharge papers, which of course, he couldn't do. He was obliged to go to much trouble before he was finally able to get a letter from a public official stating that he had been actually discharged from the service and that a record of his military career was on file in the city clerk's office. Another instance in which the absence of discharge papers is causing inconvenience is in securing buttons awarded by the war department to world war veterans through the local army recruiting station. Unless a man can show his discharge papers, he will not be given one of these buttons. The return of the papers will be awaited by many of the service men with as much interest almost as the arrival of the $100 itself.

WHAT DO THE MOVIE FANS WANT?

What is the state of mind of the average motion picture devotee in Lowell today, or in any other city in the country for that matter? What do the people want? What will they not tolerate and to what extent has the great American public educated itself in the "movie" world?

These are a few of the questions motion picture dispensers ask themselves time after time. There are blue days in the movie business when the theatre man radiates despair and discouragingly asks, "Well, what do they want, anyway?" And then there are brighter days when he thinks he has correctly taken the public pulse and is running neck and neck with its emotions and whims.

Years ago the motion picture theatre going people were easy to fool and almost as easy to satisfy. If the hero was deftly dropped off the cliff several times in six reels and just as many times caught in the sheltering arms of the broad shouldered hero, that was all sufficient. Patrons craved thunder and lightning and they got it in large chunks, but they have learned, until today they are exasperatingly critical and simply will not countenance an attempt at a hoax. They still crave action, Lowell promoters say, but it is of a far different brand and must be woven about a real story with a punch.

Young stars, a clean story, beautifully screened, attractive clothes and synopical action are some of the present day requisites. Melodrama of a conservative sort is still a magnet, but the knock-'em-dead and drag-'em-out style of yesterday does not attract. It's a strong story people want today and the action must be continuous. Two reels of action and two of stagnation will not suffice, but like everything else in this ragtime age, "pop" and jazz must keep the journey of the theme constantly in motion.

The pictures must have a story to tell and the feature directors must see to it that the principals never allow the interest of the audience to drag. The picture makers have realized this fast growing knowledge on the part of the public and know that unless they garb their productions in refinement they will fall flat. A thread of love must run through the story, too, and it can hardly be too intensely portrayed. Broken hearts may be left in its wake, but Mr. and Mrs. Fan will pass over these incidents with hardly a tremor if the real lovers eventually emerge triumphant.

The day of living a picture by the individuals in the audience also is fast waning, theatre men feel and folks do not seek to have their heart strings twanged as often as formerly. Occasionally, of course, the type of "fan" is found who will rise from his chair and frantically urge on the hero as the latter keeps his horse just a stride ahead of the outlaw band thundering at his heels, but the good old days of tears and cheers are gradually becoming only memories and in their stead today are audiences made up of coolly appraising individuals, quick to pick a flaw in the plotterization and patiently waiting to be "shown."

Do comedies still attract? Yes, but even here education has sown the seeds of reform and although the audience is still ready to laugh, it requires a far better brand of humor than it did five years ago. A comedy today must have a background of "class" or else it becomes a burlesque.

It all slimmers down to this. The public has become educated and this education will continue. It demands better grade stuff and gets it and the public, not the makers and producers, has made the motion picture industry the huge concern it is today.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB WORKERS CONTEST

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 22.—Middlesex county has a chance to produce at least seven all-Eastern champion teams in the 10 states contest for boys' and girls' club workers to take place here at the North Atlantic states club encampment during the Eastern States Exposition, September 15 to 20. At a meeting here of all the county club leaders in the state the Middlesex team was definitely picked to represent Massachusetts in garden judging, while the county's juvenile experts in garden, pig, poultry, cat and canning demonstration and cow judging will compete with other county teams this summer for the honor of representing the commonwealth in interstate contests in these projects. County Leader Robert P. Trask who attended the conference believes Middlesex may have the largest representation at the encampment of any county in the east.

Named after Theodore N. Vall of Vermont, the encampment will assemble here 300 state champions of club work, 30 each from the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. All-Eastern championship medals of gold, silver, and bronze will be awarded winning judging and demonstration teams in gardening, corn, potato, canning, breadmaking, cattle, pig, sheep, poultry and garment making projects.

DO THEY "CAN'T COME BACK," EHI! YOU ASK "CHAMPAGNE" CHARLEY?

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—"Champagne Charley," otherwise Mr. Charles Anderson, spender extraordinary and cork-puller plenipotentiary, who has made more fortunes and scattered more wealth to the winds than any other man since the days of "Lucky Baldwin," has come back.

Laden with gold, his fourth fortune in 40 years, "Champagne Charley" has emerged from the Arizona desert with one absorbing purpose in life—to do good to the "down-and-outers."

His present fortune bids fair to disappear, not into the clinking tills of the bygone booze-venders or upon the green-baize gambling table, but into the pockets of the men who need.

"Champagne Charley," 40 years ago, was a schoolmaster in Canada. He could not stand the quiet life. He became a wanderer.

At the time of the Alaskan gold-rush he made a killing. This first fortune disappeared in a whirlwind of gold-dust in the dives of Nome.

He made other fortunes in California and South America. By turns he knew hunger, hardships, affluence. Always "Champagne Charley" staged another come-back.

He went round after round with John Barleycorn, and always lost. He scattered his money from the frozen north to Rio Janeiro.

At last, at 55, "Champagne Charley" was following the free-lunch route, begging two-bit pieces from former friends and drinks from disgusted bar-keepers. Then, two years ago, he disappeared altogether.

"Champagne" Charley Anderson.

The other day "Champagne Charley" came back to Los Angeles, his pockets sagging with gold.

He is 60 years old. He has money on deposit in three Los Angeles banks. He is buying large sections of land and other property. Always genial and lovable, he is again the central figure in a multitude of friends. The grim shadow of booze is lifted from his path.

In the black-ridged mountains of the Arizona desert he has "struck it rich." When he first returned to town, he put up at the city's most expensive hotel. He stayed one day.

"Too many fancy trimmings for me!" he grumbled, as he paid his bill. "I'll just find me a little room and live like regular folks."

That room, on a side street in the poor quarter of town, has now become a rendezvous for men "on their uppers."

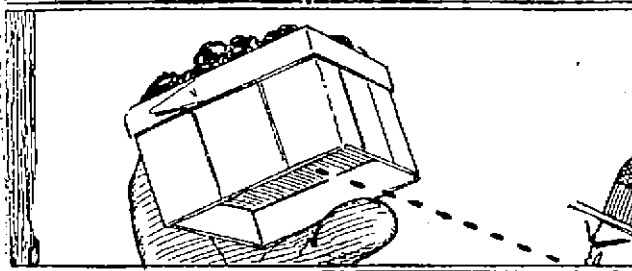

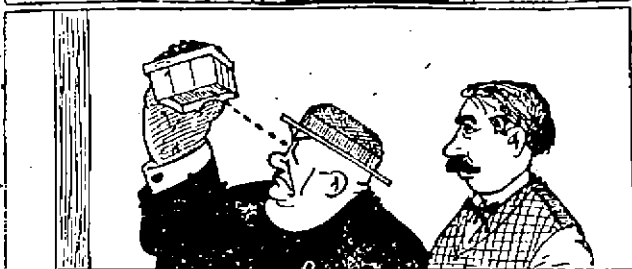

He is distributing his dollars freely, but wisely and sanely.

"I'm helping no man to go wrong," says "Champagne Charley." "No more of the white lights for me, or for those I aid."

"I get more good out of the look in a poor man's eyes than I ever got out of all the gay parties in four decades

RETURNS THAT HAVE NOT BEEN FILED

BOSTON, July 23.—Some 30,000 returns on luxury taxes—soft drinks, jewelry and the like—have not been filed with the collector of internal revenue for the month of May and when field agents from the office of Collector John F. Malley start their drive next week to round up these delinquents the latter will find they are subject to a penalty of 20 per cent of the amount due.

About 2000 out of the 10,000 soda fountain proprietors have paid their taxes for May and about 10,000 of the 40,000 or 50,000 returns on other taxes have been made to Collector Malley. Time for payment was originally June 30, but this was extended to July 21 as there has been some delay in sending out forms. With this added allowance only a small percentage of returns have been made.

The authorities believe that as the luxury tax is a new one some persons subject to it are confused over the manner of payment and as the result of this misunderstanding Collector Malley plans to put his large force of field agents to work at once to collect the tax and to instruct the people in the ways of remitting their returns. After the tax is once paid it is felt that subsequent payments will be made on time and without confusion.

WILSON NOT TO LEAVE ON TOUR TILL AUG 15

WASHINGTON, July 29.—President Wilson had engagements today with only two democratic senators—Swanson of Virginia and Underwood of Alabama. He also was to see Representatives Alexander, democrat, Missouri, and John W. Rainey, democrat, Illinois, and was to preside at the regular Tuesday cabinet meeting this afternoon.

The president may not leave Washington on his tour of the country until Aug. 15th, owing to the excessive heat. He will confer with Secretary Daniels today concerning the advisability of having the Pacific fleet await his arrival before entering San Francisco harbor.

The president had expected to leave Washington Sunday but because of the heat wave Rear Admiral Grayson and Secretary Tumulty suggested that he postpone his departure. Secretary Tumulty said the trip would be made even should the senate ratify the treaty in the meantime, as the president wanted to go to the country to explain things.

Before leaving the capital the president will clear up all pressing business. In this connection Mr. Tumulty said the president still had to assemble many documents in connection with the peace negotiations which the senate foreign relations committee has asked him to submit.

DO AWAY WITH VICE SQUADS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, July 29.—Exit vice squads. Boston is growing spottier until they aren't needed.

For a long time two men from each in-town station have worked exclusively to hold in check the social evil. It is now at such a minimum that the officers can be used to better advantage on the street in uniform.

In substance this is the understanding from high police officials. Certainly there is no fault to be found with the vice officers. They have worked hard and long and are to remain at their several stations.

Superiors do not say that the vice situation, or what is left of it, is to be handled in another way, but that is accepted as a fair presumption. And it is going to be some relief to the policemen who have been tied to it so many weary months.

Healthy Bowels

Nine-tenths of human sickness, from infancy to old age, comes from stomach or bowels being out of order. Headaches, tired feeling, nervous depression, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness stop, if you treat the stomach and bowels right and get them into working order.

The prescription, known as Dr. True's Elixir, has done wonders for sick people, men, women and children, because it is the one remedy that you can rely on to set things right in the stomach and bowels.

Sold by all druggists, big or little, everywhere. Druggists, as a rule, are very honest. They do not try to substitute something else for Dr. True's Elixir, because they know its value. Many druggists use it in their families.—Adv.

The New Roosevelt Grammar School at Maynard

The above picture is from a photograph of the Roosevelt grammar school recently erected in the town of Maynard and planned and supervised by Architect Edward B. McGirr, 6 Beacon street, Boston. The general features of the building have already been described in The Sun.

The building is two stories high with granite sub-base and superstructure of selected brick and natural limestone trimmings. It has 16 rooms, each 23 feet by 29. The interior is finished with the latest equipment including telephones, fire alarm, enclosed staircases and built-in wardrobes.

The school has a gravity system of heating with fresh air chambers in the basement and direct radiation in each classroom. The cost per room was $1,375 and the total cost to the town $10,000.

Architect McGirr, however, explains that the school was built on the foundation walls of a former schoolhouse destroyed by fire. The total value of the material salvaged and used in this building being about $5,000. He estimated that the cost of a similar building at current prices including foundation would be at least 10 per cent more, or $95,000.

The cost per cubic foot, interior contents, was 22 cents. We are informed by an expert on building that if similar simplicity of design and strict economy were applied in the Morey school addition, the cost should not be anywhere near the estimate given out from the building department.

LOWELL GIRLS TO CAMP AT PORTSMOUTH

The Lowell Community Service club for girls received word last night that an admirable summer camp in Portsmouth, N. H., situated very near the water, would be available for local use during the week of August 4 and the week of August 16. During the latter week the entire accommodations of the camp will be at the command of the Lowell club, while during the week of August 4, ten girls from this city may be sent to live with other community club girls from Portsmouth and Newburyport.

The Lowell club has diligently sought a camp since early summer, but without success and finally despaired of getting one nearby the city. The one now secured is a considerable distance away, true enough, but arrangements will be made whereby the individual cost will be slight.

The camp is known as the Sagamore club and is a beautiful building fitted for camp usage by the remodeling of a summer residence. By a lease it is the property of the Community Service clubs of Newburyport and Portsmouth, but has been sub-leased to the Lowell club for the week of the 16th, when

Mixed Summer Foods The Cause Of Much Indigestion

SUMMER days are days of careless living, kitchens too hot for cooking, cold lunches at the homes of friends, open-air picnics, with the result that many a family is down with indigestion.

Give the stomach and bowels a new start by taking a dose of a good laxative—Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Then put your liver and digestive organs to work naturally to do their work, naturally to do their work, naturally to do their work.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1, the latter the family size. It acts so gently and safely that it can be given even to a baby in constipation, indigestion, "summer colds" and similar ills.

The formula on which Syrup Pepsin is based was written by Dr. Caldwell over 30 years ago. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that tones the stomach-muscles to do their work naturally to do their work, naturally to do their work.

If you have never used Syrup Pepsin, send your address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 480 Washington St., Monticello, N. Y.

25 Killed in Chicago Race Riots 4000 Troops in City and 4000 Others Await Call

STREETS BECOME BATTLEFIELDS

Race Rioting Renewed in Chicago—Guns, Knives and Razors Used

Death List Grows—Soldiers With Full War Equipment Ready—Battle in Jail

CHICAGO, July 29.—The police list of race riot fatalities rose to 25 at 10.30 a. m. today, when Thomas Joshua, negro, was killed by a detective who fired into a crowd of rioters on the south side, and when B. P. Hardy, negro, died at a hospital.

Practically none of the 15,000 negroes employed at the Chicago Union stockyards reported for work today.

The police today issued warnings for negroes to keep off the streets of the south side until order is restored.

In the Loop district this morning mobs of white men chased negroes for blocks shouting "Kill the coons." The police used their sticks vigorously in rescuing the negroes.

Race Fight in Jail

A vicious race fight broke out in the county jail shortly after 11 o'clock. The whites outnumbered the blacks by 20 to 1, and the guards were swept aside when they tried to stifle the trouble at its start.

Racial disorders spread to the north side of the city today where a number of negroes were chased and threatened. Few negroes live in that section of the city.

Exploitations of the negro by politicians is believed by many public officials and students of civic conditions in Chicago to be largely responsible for the race riots.

Trouble flared intermittently throughout the morning and unconfirmed reports of additional killings continued to reach the police.

Today's fighting centered in the heart of the "black belt" along 35th street, and to cope with the situation the police massed reserves of men, rifles, patrol wagons, ambulances and motor cycles in the vicinity. In addition to some 1000 state troops under arms in the city as many more were under orders to be ready for emergency.

4000 Troops On Scene

CHICAGO, July 29.—Four thousand soldiers, with full war equipment stood ready today to quell the race rioting between negroes and whites that during two nights of terror in the south side black belt cost the lives of over a score of men and the injury of hundreds of others, many seriously and probably a dozen fatally. Four of the injured are soldiers.

Federal Shoe Shop Closed—Union Officials and Company Make Statements

The latest development in the Allied Shoe Workers' strike, which went into effect Saturday, took place this morning when the entire plant of the Federal Shoe company in Dix street closed down.

It was reported at the union headquarters in Middle street that this forenoon the superintendent of the plant called his help together and informed them that the plant would shut down for two weeks, this action, he said, being taken because of lack of orders. Union officials, however, state that the shut down was a result of the strike, for they claim that about 60 per cent. of the Federal employees left their work yesterday morning.

Company's Statement

The following statement by the Federal Shoe company was handed The Sun today:

A large majority of the employees of the Federal Shoe company are in no way affiliated with the Allied union, and remained at work in spite of the Allied union strike order. These employees took a vote in the Federal Shoe company factory this morning and decided that rather than to submit to the insults and threats of the strikers from other factories, they would prefer to take advantage of the good weather and go on an indefinite vacation. The Federal Shoe company management is entirely in accord with this action, having planned for it a long ways in advance. All midsummer orders are filled and a large stock of manufactured goods accumulated.

Call For Workers

There was no meeting of the strikers this morning, but the men and women gathered at the hall just the same and discussed in an informal manner matters pertaining to the strike. In the course of the forenoon several calls for help, both male and female, were received from out-of-town concerns, and it was reported that some of the strikers had accepted positions in other cities. A special meeting of the members of the Allied Shoe Workers' union will be held in C.C.A. hall, Middle street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

AMSTERDAM, Sunday, July 27. (By the Associated Press.)—At the opening of the International Trades Union congress today, the statement of the presiding officer, M. Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health has submitted to Mayor Perry D. Thompson, head of the health department, a statement of the finances of the entire department for the first six months of the present year, showing the total amount appropriated at the beginning of the year for each auxiliary of the department, the amount expended in the first six months and the amount on hand July 1.

The statement is most interesting as it throws a clear light on the financial condition of at least one municipal department when the half-year mark of the municipal year had been passed. It is as follows:

Health Office

Appropriation $30,000.00
Salaries and Expenses $15,127.72
On hand July 1 $15,127.72

Health Yard

Appropriation $102,000.00
Labor and Supplies $6,349.83
On hand July 1 $45,650.17

Agent O'Hare states that the sum of $5517.20 has been expended this year for contagious diseases, of which $14,441.25 has been for tuberculosis.

Milk Department

Appropriation $3,200.00
Salaries and Supplies $1,810.01
On hand July 1 $1,589.99

Medical Inspection, Private Schools

Appropriation $500.00
Expenditures $150.00
On hand July 1 $350.00

PERMITS SALE OF 2.75 P. C. BEER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—Sale of beer containing 2.75 per cent. alcohol was permitted in a decision by Judge William H. Sawtelle of Arizona in the United States district court here today, sustaining a demurrer of the Rauler Brewing company, which asked that a government action to prohibit the sale of such beer be dismissed.

Judge Sawtelle held that the complaint was faulty in that it did not define 2 3/4 per cent. beer being intoxicating. He held the war-time prohibition act to be constitutional.

COUNCIL HONORS AUDITOR PAIGE

Retiring Official Presented Purse of Gold and Set of Resolutions

Crisis of Routine Business Transacted at This Morning's Regular Meeting

Charles D. Paige, who will leave the employ of the city this week after 11 years' service as city auditor, was honored at this morning's meeting of the municipal council in a very impressive demonstration on the part of the members of the council as well as the various department heads and clerks of city hall. He was presented a purse of gold and a set of resolutions, drawn up by Commissioners Charles J. Morse and James E. Donnelly, the two members of the council, who have served longest with Mr. Paige, was read by Mayor Thompson and will later be given to Mr. Paige in engrossed form as well as spread on the records of the city.

The resolutions extend to Mr. Paige the commendation of the council for his efficient service and successful administration of the office of auditor. Although greatly surprised and naturally diffident, the auditor made a most graceful and gracious speech of acceptance.

The meeting was called at 10.07 with all members present.

Hearings were held on the petitions of Alfred Giguere for a garage at 72-75 Merrimack street and Thomas A. Brady for a garage at 7 East Merrimack street. Both matters were referred to Commissioner Morse.

The petition of A. D. Butlers for gasoline at Pond and Perry streets and Clara L. Conant for a garage and gasoline at 316 East Merrimack street were held for hearings Sept. 2.

The petition of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. and the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. for the relocation of a pole in Osgood street was referred to Commissioner Murphy and similar action was taken on the petition of the same parties for the relocation of a jointly owned pole in Rogers street between Pleasant and High streets.

The petition of Patrick J. Frawley for a sidewalk at 517 Wilder street was ordered to remain in the city clerk's office for seven days.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the following petitions and upon his recommendation the accompanying orders were adopted:

FAVORABLE REPORT ON COLOMBIAN TREATY

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Favorable report on the treaty with Colombia was ordered today by the senate foreign relations committee without a dissenting vote. A motion to reduce from $25,000,000 to $15,000,000 the amount payable to Colombia for the partition of Panama, was defeated, 12 to 2.

The treaty, pending since 1914, will be taken up immediately by the senate, which probably will consider it in open session. Its ratification was expected within a few days with a vote today regarded as possible.

The clause suggesting that the United States express regret for the events from which the present situation on the isthmus of Panama resulted, was eliminated by the committee. This and other minor changes in the treaty are understood to have been accepted by Colombia.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Fifteen thousand street railway employees went on strike for higher wages at 4 o'clock this morning, completely tying up the surface and elevated systems of the city.

The companies made no attempt to run cars and workers depended on steam railways, automobiles and other vehicles to reach their places of business. Early last night, heads of the unions and officials of the street railway companies reached an agreement to fix the wages of the men at approximately 65 cents an hour and

Although market conditions are such this week as to permit a greater influx of sugar than has been the case during the past ten days, Lowell's supply is still restricted and in many instances housewives are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing adequate amounts. A limit of two pounds to a customer is in effect in several retail stores, while others have refused point blank to supply sugar to any but their regular trade.

When questioned this morning, two wholesale grocers said: "We are indeed having a lot of trouble in obtaining sugar in amounts sufficient to accommodate retailers and there is an actual shortage. The cases are several. One is a huge export trade and the marine strike also has had its effects upon the movement of shipments."

A downtown retailer in groceries said: "We have sugar on hand, but the amount is so comparatively small that we must skimp and therefore

SMITH BLAMES HIGHER OFFICERS

"Hardboiled" Smith Accuses Maj. Gen. Strong and Col. Grimstead at Hearing

NEW YORK, July 29.—Responsibility for cruel treatment of American soldiers at prison farm No. 2 near Paris was placed squarely upon the shoulders of Major General F. Strong and Col. E. P. Grimstead by Lieut. Frank H. (Hardboiled) Smith in testimony given by him today before a subcommittee of the house of representatives at Governor's Island.

Asked by Representative Royal C. Johnson of South Dakota, chairman of the sub-committee if his superior officers were acquainted with conditions in the prison and if he considered them responsible for them, Smith replied: "Absolutely. Those higher in authority knew everything that took place in prison."

Ruthless Severity

"What were our orders when you were placed in command?" Smith replied that he had been told by Col. Grimstead that the orders of General Strong were that prisoners were to be treated with most ruthless severity.

"Grimstead told me," Smith added, "that the men were to be treated as general prisoners."

The witness explained that treatment of general prisoners was much more severe than that of minor offenders under ordinary conditions although most of the men sentenced to farm No. 2 were guilty of such misdemeanors as being absent without leave.

"Was it your understanding that these men were to be treated in such a way that they never would come back to Paris or pass through these farms again?"

"Yes."

In reply to an inquiry as to whether he ever had discussed conditions at the farm with his superiors, Smith replied:

"I told the adjutant that someone would be in Leavenworth before we got through."

"What was the name of the adjutant?"

"Adjutant Hanson."

"You believed there would be trouble because of the complaint?"

"I realize someone would be made the goat."

Smith was asked about complaints of prisoners that they had lost money at the prison farm. He declared that few prisoners brought more than a few francs. Most of them came from another prison known as the Bastille where, it has been charged, prisoners were treated more cruelly than in any other American detention camp.

URGES EARLY RATIFICATION

Wilson Asks Senate to Approve French Pact Along With Treaty With Germany

Document Calls for U. S. to Give Immediate Aid to France if Attacked

WASHINGTON, July 29.—President Wilson today transmitted to the senate the special treaty with France by which the United States pledges itself to come immediately to the aid of that republic in the event of an unprovoked attack by Germany and asked for its early ratification "along with the treaty with Germany."

Submission of the treaty came after sharp criticism by senate republicans who for several days had openly charged on the senate floor that in failing to present the draft of the pact along with the treaty of Versailles, the president had violated one of the articles of the document. The president did not follow his usual custom of presenting the treaty in person. He sent it to the capitol by special messenger along with a message explaining its object.

The Franco-American treaty is almost identical with one signed between Great Britain and France. One difference between the texts as made public by the French foreign office to which attention has been called, is that the United States pledges itself to go "immediately" to the assistance of France while Great Britain "consents" to assist that country.

Not Independent of League

The president told the senate the purpose of the treaty was to provide assistance for France in case of unprovoked aggression by Germany without waiting for the advice of the council of the League of Nations that such action should be taken and explained that it was to be an arrangement, "not independent of the League of Nations, but under it."

"The covenant of the League of Nations," the president said, "provides for military action for the protection of its members only upon the advice of the council of the league—advice given, it is to be presumed, only upon deliberation and acted upon by each of the governments of the member states only if its own judgment justifies such action."

Hound By Ties of Friendship

Pointing out that the treaty "shall receive the approval of the council of the league," the president said it would remain in force "only until, upon the application of one of the parties to it, the council of the league, acting, if necessary, by a majority vote, shall agree that the provisions of the covenant of the league afford her (France) sufficient protection."

Mr. Wilson said he was moved to sign the treaty by the ties of friendship binding the two countries and the assistance France gave America in its struggle for independence. Without this assistance, the president said, it was seriously to be doubted whether America could have won its independence, and added: "Nothing can pay such a debt."

President Wilson's Message

President Wilson's message to the senate today accompanying the Franco-American treaty follows:

Gentlemen of the senate: I take pleasure in laying before you a treaty with the republic of France the object of which is to assure that republic of the immediate aid of the United States of America in case of any unprovoked movement of aggression against her on the part of Germany. I earnestly hope that the treaty will meet with your cordial approval and will receive an early ratification at your hands, along with the treaty of peace with Germany.

Now that you have had an opportunity to examine the great document I presented to you two weeks ago, it seems opportune to lay before you this treaty which is meant to be in effect a part of it.

Immediate Aid to France

It was signed on the same day with the treaty of peace and is intended as a temporary supplement to it. It is believed that the treaty of peace with Germany itself provides adequate protection to France against aggression

MEN WANTED FOR MOTOR TRANSPORT CORPS

The motor transport corps is only one of the several branches of the army endeavoring to build up its personnel through enlistment and is offering an excellent schedule of opportunities to the young man with any military inclinations.

This arm of the service is a war baby, like aviation, but has developed rapidly and thoroughly until now it has grown to a size sufficient to claim for itself due recognition in the machinery of the country's establishment.

The business of operating motor transportation is a technical one and depends upon a personnel possessing special knowledge and skill in high degree. In order to acquire and keep a proper personnel for the works of the corps it is necessary to create it by training. Men skilled in automobile vehicle operation and repair do not exist in anything like adequate numbers for the requirements of civil life. They are not being created at present either rapidly enough or well enough to at all meet present industrial needs. The old apprentice system now hardly exists and was inefficient when in full force. Factories now train machine operators, whose knowledge is limited to tending automatic or semi-automatic machines and thus try to get along with the very minimum of real mechanics. In consequence skillful and competent automotive mechanics command wages that render them absolutely unattainable to the army under peace conditions. The army has no option in the matter and enters the field of vocational training because there is no other way.

The training planned by the motor transport corps is a series of courses in vocational schools, alternating with periods of production work in the shops, service park units or with operating units in the field. Since the schools are being created primarily for the benefit of the corps and as a means of making the latter efficient, it is naturally not contemplated that a large part of the enlistment period of each man will be devoted to school work. Men of all grades of ability, experience, skill, education and intelligence will be accepted for enlistment and every man will receive training of some sort.

There are five courses of instruction:

In a recent communication to the Haverhill Gazette, Rep. George Pearl Webster made a statement to the effect that the trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway had voted an award of $50,000 to Wallace B. Donham as receiver of the Bay State street railway.

This is an erroneous statement to which Mr. Cummings of the public relations department of the street railway very properly calls attention in a letter to the editor of the Gazette, the first paragraph and substance of which reads as follows:

"By a decree of the United States district court and not by any vote or decision of the public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway company was Wallace B. Donham, receiver of the Bay State street railway company awarded the fee, complaint against which has been made by Rep. George Pearl Webster of Haverhill in a recent newspaper communication."

EUROPEAN CORN BORER SPREADING HERE

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 29.—Reports received at the department of agriculture yesterday indicate that the European corn borer is spreading rapidly in the districts of Lawrence, Lowell, Haverhill, Bedford, Billerica, Methuen, Buxford, Brookton, Essex, Georgetown, Hanover, Groveland, Holbrook, Ipswich, Lincoln, Marshfield, Merrimack, Newburyport, Norwell, Rockport, Salisbury, Tewksbury, Wayland, Weston and Woburn.

It is believed at the department that New Hampshire has the pest already, as virtually all the border towns on this side of the line have been infected. It is expected that the scourge will spread into Maine.

The department has set up a laboratory in the state house where the suspicious cases which the field scouts discover are sent for treatment, so as to make sure of what the trouble is before being pronounced as the "borer."

In this laboratory are specimens of corn on the cob which have been brought in from the Boston market, and the pupa of the borer has been found in the middle of the cob. Great care is being taken that the pest shall not be transferred from the Boston market into the territory still free from it. It is almost impossible, however, to make sure of this not coming about as the worm is hidden inside the plant and its presence is revealed principally by the little hole made where it bored in.

There are two generations of the borer in one season. It hibernates in the form of a caterpillar in the stalks or stems of the plants where it finds lodgment. In the spring these caterpillars emerge and begin the destruction which has been so widespread. They are now passing into the pupa state in the stalks and stems and the female moth being a night flyer it is difficult to prevent the spread of the pest. The eggs which they lay now will hatch, their caterpillars will pupate, become moths, and will lay eggs which will hatch into the generation

BROADWAY SOCIAL AND ATHLETIC CLUB PLANS BIG WELCOME TO SERVICE MEN

That the "welcome home" reception to the returned service men of the Aera district—which is to be held under the auspices of the Broadway Social and Athletic club next month—will be an event that the people of that section will date time from was proved at the meeting of the club members last evening when James F. Heslin, chairman of the committee on arrangements, reported that plans for the event were fast taking shape and that he is meeting with hearty co-operation from every quarter.

The program includes sports for the children and a band concert in the early evening, followed by a banquet and dancing on the green in front of the club house. It was also stated that identification tags are ready for the collectors who will tour the district in search of funds to help defray the expenses of the celebration.

much higher salary. DeGroot, in consenting to devote himself exclusively to the development of scouting in Los Angeles, offers another example of the high grade of men who are now being attracted to the movement.

DeGroot's advent into the executive phase of scouting will be hailed with enthusiasm by the hundreds of thousands of men and boys now connected with the Boy Scouts of America, for the record that he has built in the field of physical education is one that few men can excel or indeed equal in this country.

He was a pioneer in recreational training.

Practically every part of the country knows him for some particular achievement. He was one of the organizers of the Playground Association of America, of the National Athletic Research society. Joint author of the California public school physical education law, organizer and director of the department of physical education, athletics, social and lecture centers, board of education in San Francisco and lecturer at the University of California.

New Jersey knows him for his work as physical director of the Montclair military academy, while New England knows him for his lectures at the Harvard summer school, and his record as director of boys' camps on Lake Champlain and Penobscot Bay. In the middle west he is known chiefly for his good work in organizing and directing the famous $15,000,000 public recreation centers of Chicago, and his accomplishments as director of the Hull House playground and gymnasium.

Institutions throughout the country have honored him time and again. He was awarded a diploma and medal for distinguished service by the Panama-Pacific International exposition and was given an honorary diploma by the Sargent School of Physical Education, Cambridge, Mass.

The new scout executive is no stranger to scouting.

He has long been identified with council work in various centers and was one of the first to recognize the soundness of its program, and to foresee its tremendous growth in this country when it was first introduced here in 1910.

And incidentally, he believes enough in the Boy Scout movement to have his son, Dudley Sargent DeGroot, become a troop member. And Dudley has lost no time in taking advantage of the scout opportunities, for he has already made himself a noted swimmer and ornithologist.

NO BEER, WINES or WHISKEY

I consider my preparation, put up and sold in tablet form and known as DR. GRADY'S "JUST-A-MEMO" TABLET, (Trade Mark Registered), the crowning achievement of my life, knowing, as I do, the great blessings that will surely follow their use.

OLD DR. GRADY, Specialist.

They furnish good rich blood to pale people; give life and snap to the overworked and run-down; make old folks feel strong, and do away with both the necessity and desire for beer, wines and whiskey.

If you are overworked—use them; if you are weak and run-down—use them; if you can't sleep—use them; if you feel "old"—use them; if you are depressed and feel the need of new life and good cheer—use them; if your stomach or liver is out of order—use them.

DR. GRADY'S TABLETS are Dr. Grady's own remedy, improved by man's scientific skill. Seal boxes, use a box, at all druggists.

A MOTHER'S DUTY

IT is the Mother who makes the home bright and cheerful—who radiates happiness and hope—who is the guardian of her daughter's future.

IT is her duty to guard and preserve her health, in order to do her life's work well and completely.

AT the first sign of Tiredness and Weakness—if you find yourself easily irritated or discouraged—if you are having Headaches or Pain in the Side or Back—if you are losing your appetite or not sleeping well—then you need RED PILLS.

THESE wonderful Blood-makers and Health-builders are the one remedy you can depend upon to conquer Anaemia and give you back your health and strength.

MRS. JOSEPH LEVESQUE, 37 Bassett Street, Fall River, Mass., says, "I had to take care of my family of five children and also to attend to my daily work at the factory. This double work was too much for me, and after taking a bad cold, I fell sick and soon became the victim of pains all over my body, especially in the back, and I had to remain in bed the greater part of the time. I continued thus for about three months, and then knowing that something had to be done, for necessity was staring me in the face, I started to take RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, with the result that I gradually regained my former strength, my appetite was more regular, I could digest my food more easily, my pains were lessened and then disappeared altogether, and it was not long before I was able to resume my work at the factory and give the necessary attention to my five children."

CAUTION:—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French doctor, and they have been widely used ever since.

day there are indications of a recurring epidemic on the threshold. One Ohio town, Berea, according to word to Congressman Fess, is "peppered with the flu." And the report goes on to say that the epidemic there is worse now than it was last winter.

That is an indication, health experts say, of the condition in which other localities may be plunged as fall and winter approach. It was in late August last year that the flu epidemic struck this country with such force, starting at Boston and sweeping all over the country, from ocean to ocean, until there was scarcely a village which remained unstricken.

Big Death Harvest

The coming of the epidemic found the nation unprepared to cope with it. And, so say these health experts, we are little less prepared for a recurring epidemic. They fear that another nation-wide epidemic this fall and winter will take an even greater toll of life, and cause a larger economic loss than the first.

It has been estimated that 470,000 deaths in America last year were caused by the flu, and that the economic loss ran into the billions of dollars. This spring's epidemic is said to have cost 50,000 lives.

Statistics of over 10,000,000 wage earners show that, during 1918 the mortality was higher by more than 30 per cent. than prevailed in 1917. This was due to the influenza epidemic.

And yet the death rate for 1918 before Sept. 1 was lower than for the corresponding period of 1917. Begin-

RECREATIONAL LEADER JOINS BOY SCOUTS

Fresh from his duties overseas, where, as director of athletics for the American Expeditionary forces, he did conspicuous work in guiding the recreational activities of millions of doughboys, E. B. DeGroot, noted physical educator, joint author of the California public school physical education law, one of the organizers of the Playground association of America, organizer and director for eight years of Chicago's $15,000,000 public recreation centers and considered an authority on physical development of the world over, has definitely allied himself with the Boy Scout movement by accepting the position of scout executive of the Los Angeles council.

HELP FIGHT THE FLU

By asking the congressman from your district, and the senators from this state, to work for and vote for the anti-flu bill introduced in congress by Senator Harding and Congressman Fess.

There is urgent need for haste. A recurring flu epidemic is feared this autumn and winter.

It may be more serious than the one of 1918.

Fighting the flu now may head off the epidemic. It will save lives.

Write to Washington this evening.

THE FLU BILL

A measure introduced in both houses of congress to set aside $5,000,000 for investigation of the influenza epidemic, its cause, methods of prevention and the cure.

The bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Warren G. Harding, and in the house of representatives by Congressman Simeon D. Fess, both of Ohio.

The money appropriated is to be spent under the direction of the United States public health service.

The measure is endorsed by the American Medical association.

THE DEATH TOLL

Influenza killed in the United States in the last four months of 1918—470,000 human beings.

Influenza killed in the United States during the recurring epidemic of this spring—50,000 human beings.

Influenza killed throughout the world in the last 12 months, according to the estimates made by the medical expert of the London Times—Six million people.

In America the influenza mortality record is as six to one compared with war's.

It seems probable that the bill will pass, and with little opposition. The other factor is the avalanche of word from home which has come to individual members of congress urging the passage of the anti-flu bill.

Other Legislation Clogs the Wheels

There is, however, a possibility of delay. Congress is deluged with work, packer legislation, the treaty, the League of Nations, the railroads, other appropriations, and a mass of all sorts of bills. This is why there is need of further, and stronger, prodding by the home folks. Every letter or telegram from back home to a congressman or senator will aid in having the anti-flu bill hurried through both houses and signed by the president.

Until this is done the anti-flu fight is at a standstill. Nothing much worth while has been done since the recurring epidemic of last spring. And to-

MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN JITNEY AND TROLLEY

(Special to The Sun)

START: HOUSE, Boston, July 28.—“The people must choose between the jitneys and the trolley companies and they must make their decision quickly. The question of whether the trolley shall stay is up to them, and them alone.”

This was the reply of one of the most prominent street railway men in the state today when on his calling at the governor's office to inquire into the activities of the new commission to investigate the trolley situation he was asked to state his views upon a topic he was as fully competent to discuss as any man in the country.

According to him there is no further time for “monkeying” with the situation, and while he was hopeful that the street railway companies might survive until the autumn, even against the jitney competition, he made it plain that, in the opinion of most men connected with the transportation industry, the situation in some communities is such that the trolley cars are operated at an almost 100 per cent. loss.

This is particularly true on the Eastern Massachusetts lines, he said, where in some of the cities like Lynn, cars are running through the streets with nobody on board. In one of the communities served by this road, he continued, there is no such a thing as a straphanger, and in many of them a man braves the contempt of his neighbors when he rides upon a trolley car.

The jitneys have taken the cream of the suburban business with the result that the street car companies are merely marking time, awaiting the day when there will be a change of sentiment. He cited the case of Newburyport on the Massachusetts Northeastern, where public sentiment favors the jitney because, as they said, it renders better service. He qualified the statement by saying that he meant quicker service, especially to Amesbury and Salisbury beach.

“He was asked what he would suggest as a remedy, but said that he did not know unless it was some plan by which the public, through taxation or some other means, should contribute to the support of the service in the interest of community welfare.

“It is idle to talk of solving the problem in any other way—there must be new revenues secured in some way. It may be that there is new business to be secured, in which case the street railways will be glad to learn of it. But the cure is very simple—no amount of legislation in the effort to make the present revenue return spread over a large surface will come to anything. New revenue must be secured and it makes little difference in the transportation scheme whether it comes from new business or from a tax levy. If the people want the service they must pay for it, one way or another.”

The taxation plan the speaker touched upon in an entirely new angle.

“If the people are taxed to support the roads,” he said, “they undoubtedly will believe that they are being asked to pay to support street railways. However, by thinking upon the subject at length I believe they can be made to realize that their taxes will not be used to keep the trolleys running but rather to keep the jitneys in operation. That seems a strange statement to make, I realize, and yet I am convinced it is a sound one. Anyone familiar with the street railway situation knows well enough that the trolleys can be made to pay if they can secure all the patronage available; this is, if they can get all the traffic now borne by the jitneys. It follows then that if this is not done and a tax is imposed the people will be paying for the privilege of keeping the jitneys in existence, not in supporting the trolleys.”

DECLARES BIG PACKERS CONTROL PRICES

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Ability of the “big five” packers—Swift, Armour, Morris, Cudahy and Wilson—to determine from day to day the general level of livestock prices was declared in a report of the federal trade commission's report on the industry made public yesterday.

Information obtained in the commission's investigation was cited to show that the “big five” have an interest in 25 of the 50 principal market yards of the country and a majority of the voting stock in 22 others. It was said they buy most of the livestock sold at these markets.

“They discriminate against and put at great disadvantage independent buyers, who are their competitors,” the report said. “They manipulate on occasions the livestock market in such a way as to cause extreme and unwarranted fluctuations in the daily prices paid for livestock. They have eliminated many competitors and prevented new ones from coming into it. They have restricted the meat supply of the nation by manipulating the daily livestock prices and thus discovering the producers of livestock.”

“Of the meat trade in the hands of interstate slaughterers in the United States, the five big packing companies have more than 73 per cent of the total. They have the prices of dressed meat and packing house products so well in hand that, within certain limitations, meat prices are made to respond to their wishes.”

Notwithstanding special advantages said to be enjoyed by the five big packers, the commission declared it was not demonstrable that they are more efficient than the “independents.”

In tracing the ownership of the various stockyards, the commission, in its report, devoted much attention to the “remarkable financial devices” known as the bearer warrant, which it was said might be used not only to hide completely true ownership, but also was equally effective in making possible the evasion of income, corporation and surtaxes if it came into more general use. Such a warrant is a receipt for a stock certificate, the latter being made out to the treasurer of the corporation, who delivers the warrant to the person who actually owns the stock. In this way it would be possible for a stockholder to receive dividends and vote without his identity being known.

J. Ogden Armour was said by the commission to own 13.4 per cent of the Chicago Stockyards company, but the use of bearer warrants was asserted to have prevented the commission from discovering who owned the other stock.

Much of the commission's report dealt with matters already made public in the hearings conducted by Francis J. Heney as special investigator for the commission.

Swift Denies Charge

CHICAGO, July 29.—Louis F. Swift, president of Swift and Company, said yesterday:

“The federal trade commission is issuing its report, piecemeal, apparently with the idea of keeping up a continuous agitation against the packing industry. This latest broadside, according to such report as I have seen, repeats the same old charges, contains the same misrepresentation, and does our industry the same injustice, as in previous reports.”

ALDERMAN MURPHY HOLDS HEARINGS

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy held routine hearings on a number of street and sewer petitions at his office in city hall last evening and the major part of the evening was taken up with the advocacy of petitions by members of the South Lowell Improvement association. There were also a number of remonstrants.

The first matter taken up was the petition that Waugh street be accepted. Patrick Keyes and Messrs. McCaffrey, O'Neill and Cashin favored the petition, although it was the general sentiment that the grade of the street should not be raised.

Joseph T. Wood was opposed in his petition for a sewer in South street from Highland to Gosham. He said he planned to erect five houses there.

Arsena Brun, president of the South Lowell Improvement association, appeared in behalf of a number of petitioners for the acceptance of Clifton street. Damase Laporte was opposed, saying he favored the acceptance of Riverside street first.

The acceptance of Bennett street was advocated by Mrs. Rundlett and she was not opposed.

President Brun also spoke in favor of the acceptance of Carmine, Holton and Acton streets, the extension of the sewer in Circuit avenue and the laying of sidewalks and edgestones in Woburn and Eugene streets. Armand Sopranant and Emilie Pelletier also favored the Carmine street petition, but Patrick Gallagher and Kate Lafrance were opposed. John Gendreau wanted the three streets accepted. George Gendreau, Joseph and Eugene Contu were recorded in favor of a sidewalk in Woburn and Eugene streets. Thomas Taft and Kate Lafrance opposed the extension of the Circuit avenue sewer.

Ross A. Dowd appeared in favor of the extension of the Beacon street sewer to drain the premises at 105 and Joseph Assella favored the extension of the Plymouth street sewer.

The petition for a sidewalk in Georgia avenue had no advocates present, but Patrick J. Reynolds, appearing for Mr. Harhan, remonstrated.

Details of Arrangements of Wireless Communication Announced by Germans

BERLIN, Monday, July 28.—(By the Associated Press)—The Vossische Zeitung, gives details of the arrangements of wireless communication between Germany and America, opening today or tomorrow.

The newspaper says that efforts will be made to induce the United States to release other wireless stations than that at Belmar, N. J., for service with Nauen. The imperial post ministry has established a special department to solve this and other wireless problems under Director Jireldow, who will attempt to make the wireless cheaper than cable communication.

Local Sugar Supply

have limited an individual sale to a maximum of two pounds. We were practically unable to get any sugar the latter part of last week, but the market is a little better now, but does not even approach normal, or the amount we need to satisfy all of our customers.”

It has been said that while Lowell is experiencing this shortage, the neighboring city of Lawrence has plenty of sugar available in its wholesale and retail establishments, but when this phase of the situation was broached today he said such a statement is entirely without foundation and that Lawrence is having exactly the same difficulty as is being felt here.

Several incidents which have occurred during attempts of Lowell families to purchase sugar during the past week have been brought to light. In one case after fruitless search for sugar had been made in this city the family drove to Lawrence in quest of it. They stopped at the first good-sized store they came to and went in as perfect strangers to timidly ask in an undertone: “May we have a pound of sugar?”

“Certainly,” replied the clerk. Slightly buoyed up by the alacrity of the answer, the purchaser said: “May I have two pounds?”

“Yes,” was the uninterested reply. Growing more bold, but still asking in a whisper to avoid confusion, the Lowell housekeeper leaned forward and said, “Do you suppose I might have five pounds?”

The clerk showed signs of exasperation and replied, “Why of course you may have five pounds, or any amount you want.”

“Do you mean to say you have a lot of sugar on hand?” gasped the Lowell traveler.

“We have a whole store room full of it,” answered the clerk, “and I will sell you any amount you name.”

The transaction eventually closed when the local people left the store with 30 pounds of this household necessity and started homeward.

Lowell dealers, however, say that this incident is not a true criterion of the Lawrence situation and that wholesalers and retailers in the latter city are having just as hard a time in obtaining shipments as are the local men.

A man tried to purchase one pound of sugar in a local store last evening and at the outset was told, “we haven't any.” But he had noticed a barrel, at least three-quarters full, standing in back of the counter and after indignantly inquiring what the sugar in the barrel was to be used for and saying that he purchased groceries at that same store almost daily, the clerk reached beneath the counter and gave him a pound of sugar already done up in a bag. The cost was 11 cents, a cent or two in excess of the recent prevailing price, but less than the charge per pound in some other stores.

In rebuttal to any statements made to the effect that local dealers are attempting to hoard their supply, they say they are simply endeavoring to make what little they have go as far as possible and to as many different persons as possible.

number of whites either fought in the streets or alleys or covered in their homes while shots were fired, mounted policemen galloped along the boulevards, patrol wagons dashed through the streets with prisoners and wounded women and children screamed as men fought with cutlasses, knives and fists. One unidentified negro was killed and two negroes were wounded at Wabash and Adams streets, the heart of the downtown district, in rioting which was renewed shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. Joseph Powers, white, a street car conductor, was shot and killed soon after daylight in the stockyard section. William Henderson, a negro, was arrested on suspicion.

Mayor Asks for Troops

When the rioting, which started Sunday night with the stoning and drowning of a negro who had drifted on a raft into the water of a beach used by whites, broke out afresh last night, Mayor Thompson asked Governor Lowden for troops. The governor who was on his way to Lincoln, Neb., turned back at Burlington, Ia., and Acting Governor Oglesby gave Adjutant General Dickinson orders to mobilize necessary soldiers. By midnight four regiments were in armories on the south side. But by that time the police had cleared the streets for the night and began collecting the dead and injured and rounding up looters.

Enraged by Stories of Cruelty

The taste of blood Sunday night whetted the appetites of hundreds of adventurous persons who had long grieved at the rapid influx of negroes who have spread over a large territory formerly the residential quarter of the south side. Property had decreased in value and whites had migrated to other parts of the city by thousands, but many others had

4480 YANKS CAPTURED

Number Taken by Enemy in France—28th Division Heaviest Loser—26th Next

WASHINGTON, July 29.—A rechecking by the war department of figures up to June 3 shows the total number of Americans captured by the enemy in France was 4480 of whom 315 were officers. The 28th Division was the heaviest loser with 18 officers and 714 men and the 26th next with 19 officers and 435 men. The Eighth Division reported one man captured.

Of the divisions earliest in line, the First Division lost no officers and 162 men and the Second Division five officers and 152 men.

Streets Filled With Dead and Injured

In some cases negroes in automobiles dashed through the streets firing at any whites encountered. In other cases whites attacked the buildings occupied by negroes, shooting through windows and doors, while the inmates fired back from barricades. Bands of both races marched through the streets and meeting, fought battles that ceased only when the pavement was covered with dead and wounded and the mounted police had spurred their horses through the mass.

Men and Women Dragged From Cars

Many individual fights, hand to hand struggles with knives and razors, added to the casualties. Men and women were dragged from street cars until the company stopped running them through the affected area.

In one instance a band of whites, passing a mansion on Grand Boulevard and resenting the occupancy of the place by blacks, was driven from the house.

Looters and Incendiaries

As the night wore on and the bands of terrorists were broken up by the police, looters and incendiaries appeared. Several houses were fired, and one was burned. A number of stores were broken open and sacked.

Toward daylight the less aggressive having been driven to cover, worn out with fighting, or jailed, a number of white rioters invaded the downtown quarters and dragged covering porters from all-night restaurants and hotels to the streets, flogging them unmercifully.

Soldiers Attacked by Negroes

Among the whites injured during the night were three members of the Seventh regiment who were beset by negroes while on the way to their armory. Corporal W. L. Riggs was shot in the back; Charles T. Williams was shot in the side and J. N. Rinkus was slashed with a razor.

Major Haines Fatally Wounded

Major Fred Haines was found probably fatally beaten, presumably by negroes. An automobile containing Adjutant General Dickinson was fired on but without injury to the occupants.

An exodus of negroes to the north and west sides began as the fighting was at its height. Some 50,000 more negroes already live in those parts of the city and the police took precaution to stop any resentment shown by whites at the added population of blacks. The movement was stopped at daybreak by the street car strike.

Whites Penned in Homes

A few whites were penned in their homes by angry negroes and had to telephone for police aid to escape. One family managed to elude the negroes by blacking their faces and departing in disguise. But aside from a few such instances persons living in or near the war zone were unharmed physically if they remained within their dwellings.

Taxicab drivers refused to take passengers into the disturbed district and residents who lived along the car lines that were stopped had long walks through the field of battle.

Fire Into Crowd of Negroes

The police devoted much of their activity to clearing the streets of negroes and many of the fatalities resulted from the objections of the blacks to moving. In one crowd at 35th and State streets, former Alderman DePriest, a negro, was with a crowd of blacks ordered to scatter. They refused, despite his pleading and two negro police sergeants and other officers fired into the assembly, killing four and barely missing DePriest.

A police captain in the black belt ascribed the trouble to the hoodlumism of negroes who had come to Chicago during the last two years to make up the shortage in labor caused by the war. He said his experience showed that the older residents sanely refrained from such clashes, having become accustomed to the freedom allowed to blacks without turning it into a license.

Hospitals Crowded

During the night hospitals in the region became filled and doctors were all overworked, caring for the injured. A negro corpse was taken into the establishment of a white undertaker and soon a crowd threatened to attack the place. News of this spread and thereafter dead negroes would not be accepted by white mortuaries. When the streets had been cleared in the negro section, the more persistent rioters marched down town and sought out negroes at their work. One band entered a restaurant across the street from the city hall, wrecked part of the furnishings, dragged a cowering porter from the kitchen and beat him unmercifully with a five gallon bottle. Afterwards several blackcoats arrived and dispersed the crowd.

AUTOMOBILE MISSING

A Buick roadster, the property of Dr. John H. Donovan, 1235 Middlesex street, was stolen late yesterday afternoon from John street, where it had been parked shortly after 3 o'clock. The car had a blue body, and was a 1917 model. The police are investigating.

JUNE BREAKS ALL EXPORT RECORDS

A remarkable jump in exports during June brought the total for the fiscal year 1919 to more than seven billion dollars, a new record, according to a statement issued today by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The June exports are put at $915,000,000, which exceeds the previous high record, established in April of this year, by more than $200,000,000. The exports for June of last year were valued at $184,000,000. Total exports for the fiscal year stand at $7,225,000,000, as compared with $5,920,000,000 for the fiscal year 1918. This is more than three times the exports for 1914, the last normal year. Exports since the armistice was signed in November are estimated at about $5,000,000,000. The excess of exports over imports for the fiscal year 1919 was $4,129,000,000 against $3,000,000,000 the previous year and less than $500,000 in 1914.

Imports for June were valued at $293,000,000, a falling off from the total of $329,000,000 recorded for May, but an increase over the $280,000,000 for June of the previous year. Total imports for the fiscal year just closed are placed at $3,096,000,000, as against $2,946,000,000 for 1918.

The removal of wartime restrictions caused a decided increase in the exports of gold, from less than $2,000,000 each in April and May to $53,000,000 in June. Gold exports for the fiscal year amounted to $117,000,000 against $121,000,000 for 1918. Exports of silver fell off from $20,000,000 in May to $13,000,000 in June, but increased from $139,000,000 for the fiscal year 1918 to $301,000,000 for 1919.

ALBANIAN REVOLT AGAINST ITALIANS

SALONIKI, July 29.—The number of Albanians in revolt against the Italian troops of occupation is growing daily, according to the newspaper Macedonia. Several of the Albanian chiefs who were opposed to Essad Pasha, provisional president of Albania, are co-operating with his partisans in an attempt to force the Italians to evacuate. In spite of rigorous measures taken by the Italians to prevent the transmission of news concerning the insurrection the Macedonia declares, it is learned that a number of Italian propagandists have been assassinated near Grava and Berat.

Dodge a cold

Some folks are fortunate enough always to breathe pure air, and never get run down by overwork or exposure. Even these lucky people do not always escape the contagious colds which prevail at certain seasons to such an extent as to be almost epidemic. It is wise to be prepared for troubles of this nature in our climate, and the one all-important thing is to have at hand a safe, efficient and reliable remedy to ward off the trouble and danger of such an attack.

EX-KAISER PROTESTS

Objects to Converting Protestant Chapel Into Catholic Uses

LONDON, July 29.—The Berlin newspapers say that the former German emperor has written to the Archbishop of Posen asking him to preserve the Protestant chapel at Posen castle for Protestant services and not to convert it to Catholic uses. He said that it would be unbearable to him to have Roman Catholic services celebrated in the chapel, into which he had put his whole soul and in which he prayed for victory for Germany.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND THEATRE

Two very delightful photo-plays head the program at the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. They are "A Man of Honor," featuring the late Harold Lockwood in the title role, and "A Girl at Bay," a Vitaphone picture with Corinne Griffith in the stellar role.

"A Man of Honor" deals with the Tropical Products Co., doing business somewhere in the Indies, and for which Lockwood as Smith was assistant manager. The head of the concern was money mad and it did not matter how he got it so long as he made it. He had a mania for hoarding stock values, for increasing capitalization, and for increasing water into stock. To him the stockholders were but dummies from whom he could squeeze money, and it was his hobby to have his manager write boosting reports of the doings of the company. The manager became ill and prior to his death he confessed to Smith that the whole situation of the company was one of fraud. When Smith was put in control he decided to run the company on the level or resign, and he made good. The president of the company, still bent on conquest, wanted a report to read to his directors so that the over-capitalization scheme might go through and he had his report all written, ready to be read. Smith decided that the only way to put up and to the canvas was to arrest the president and his followers and prevent them from attending the stockholders' meeting, and he did. In the party was the president's daughter, who loved Smith and who was being loved by the latter. She pleaded with Smith, but her pleadings were of no avail, for Smith had promised to be in the level and he kept his promise. While the party were being held prisoners there came a storm which uncovered the treasure of an old pirate and this was found by the president's daughter. She turned the treasure over to Smith, who utilized it in putting back the company on its feet, and the story ends with Smith not only beating the old president but also winning his daughter.

Regains Appetite When She Takes Advice of Cousin

Connecticut Woman Strongly Recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills For Stomach Trouble

"The advice of a cousin, given after many medicines had failed to check my loss of strength, has resulted in my restoration to health," says Mrs. H. A. Hickman, of No. 16 Jackson street, Ansonia, Conn. "I had been ill for five years and nothing helped me. I was steadily losing strength and daily becoming more nervous. Everything I ate soured on my stomach and I had severe indigestion pains which deprived me of many hours of sleep. My blood was very thin and my color was poor. My heart palpitated wildly at times and I was almost too weak to get about."

"Urged by my cousin I finally procured a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began the treatment. It was not a great while before my stomach became much stronger and I could eat without worrying about the distress which before taking the pills, was sure to result. My appetite improved and now I sleep soundly, am refreshed in the morning and feel like doing my work. My heart no longer palpitates as it did and my blood is much richer. Today I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as strongly as my cousin did and I have great faith in them as a tonic remedy."

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can order direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., enclosing fifty cents for one box or $2.50 for six boxes. Write today for the free booklet "What to Eat and How to Eat."—Adv.

woman knows that the finger of suspicion points to her and in order to hide herself she gets a position as stenographer to the brother of the dead man, and love comes between them. The young man believes the young woman knows something about the crime, but is convinced that she did not do the killing. He believes that if he can reproduce the surroundings of the crime and bring the girl into them he can at once decide whether she is guilty or not and his plan is worked out. The scenes that follow are mighty interesting and must be seen to be thoroughly appreciated.

Included in this week's bill are the Hearst International pictures, which show interesting scenes in various parts of the country. "OPEN YOUR EYES," SPECIAL STUDY NO. 7 ON GILBERT P. HAMILTON, DIRECTOR

Gilbert P. Hamilton, who directed "Open Your Eyes" when it was prepared under the supervision of the United States Public Health Service, began his connection with the motion picture industry 25 years ago, when he astonished the natives of Chebeague Island, Maine, by deciding not to follow in his father's footsteps. Hamilton, Sr., was a sea captain, but after one voyage young Hamilton spent five years as a clerk at a shipping wharf. Starting to work at five in the morning and going home to supper at eight at night, by a series of promotions, he finally became the superintendent of a coal dock and steamboat ticket agent. The monotony of his life prompted him to leave his native haunts and he secured a position in the developing department of the Edison company. After learning the fundamental principles of photography he identified himself with the Biograph company as a camera man. His next position was with George K. Spoor in the old Kladrome company, where he was employed as superintendent of factory and studios. Foreseeing possible millions in picture productions, he was one of four incorporators of the American and was afterwards for two years and a half general manager of the St. Louis Moving Picture company. He also organized the Albuquerque Company. He has directed many productions including "The Price of Crime," "The Perils of the Plains," "The Lust of the Red Man," "Even Unto Death," "Inherited Passions," "Miss Robinson Crusoe," "The Maternal Spark," and "Open Your Eyes." He considers this last named his masterpiece.

LAKEVIEW PARK

Tonight at Lakeview park is a night well worth planning for. Featured on the program is a splendid free display of fireworks, second to none ever shown hereabouts, and, furthermore you can witness it in comfort for every seat is a rinside at the park. The fireworks will be set off from a raft in the lake, so that thousands can witness them from convenient places on the shore. The exhibition will be given by one of the highest fireworks concerns in the country, and expense has not been spared to make it attractive. It is free to you.

While there, you can also patronize the multiple attractions and the foremost of these, of course, is the dancing in the best little dance hall north of Boston, and where the peppy music of the expert jazz boys directed by Minor Doyle will tickle your toes into some of the best dancing you've ever done. Try it.

It is unsatisfactory to be in a position where you realize you have lost considerable business because people didn't know about you. In other words, you failed to advertise your name and the line of goods you sell.

Time waits for no man. No day falters. It is as if the dying day said, "Tomorrow is my brother and if you prepare in advance, he will lend himself to your profit and your advantage." HIGH BUILDING COSTS

Unfortunately the idea seems to prevail among our public officials who are charged with the responsibility of erecting school buildings, that the present high cost of labor and materials will be a sufficient defense against any charge of waste or extravagance, however well founded.

It is true that the cost of labor and building material is now nearly twice as high as it was a few years ago; but that does not justify the building department in soaking the city by planning schoolhouses, or any other buildings for that matter, with a lot of unnecessary accessories, elaborate decorations and expensive finish. On the contrary, the fact that the cost of labor and material is so high, makes it imperative to plan our buildings in a plain, substantial and unelaborate style, so that we may secure the school accommodation necessary, at a minimum cost. To do anything else under present conditions, will prove either incapacity or deliberate extravagance.

The man of limited resources who planned a dwelling four or five years ago might be able to include elaborate detail, ornamental finish, sun rooms and luxurious bath fixtures, but today unless he has money to burn, he will eliminate all that is non-essential or what is merely decorative, thus getting down to a plain, serviceable and substantial structure.

Now the city of Lowell is certainly limited in the amount of funds available for building purposes and must therefore adopt a similar policy. Somehow, it happens that when this city wants to build, there are certain people who think that no ordinary building will do; that we must go into extraordinary expense by providing for an array of accessories and an elaboration of non-essential detail that nearly doubles the total cost.

We find that the average contractor can show satisfactory results in spite of the high prices. Other towns and cities are applying the policy of simple design and strict economy in the construction of their buildings to meet their urgent needs. Why cannot Lowell officials adopt the same policy or why, in these times of high prices, should they soak the city for architectural follies, needless elaboration and useless detail?

The city of Boston and the town of Maynard may be mentioned as among those municipalities in which our city officials can find plain, up to date school buildings erected at little over one-half the estimated cost of similar buildings in Lowell. Why should there be any such discrepancy in the cost of building operations here and elsewhere? We do not believe there is any excuse for such a difference. All that is necessary to attain as good results here as in any other city, is simplicity of design, the elimination of fantastic accessories that serve only to pile up the expense, and then strict economy all along the line.

What others do in the building line why can't we? All that is necessary is to cut out the frills and get a dollar's worth for every dollar expended. Then in spite of the high prices, the building difficulties complained of by the school department and the public property department will disappear.

CANADA'S DEMAND

The Dominion of Canada is beginning to show a desire for more of the attributes of nationhood. After making such a sacrifice in the world's war, such a feeling on the part of Canada, is very natural. It is reasonable to suppose that many of the Canadians ask themselves why they should be ready to sacrifice so many lives in the interest of the mother country without some tangible return.

The only return Canada is supposed to get for all her sacrifices is protection from England against invasion by other powers. We do not know that Canada has been in any danger of invasion or that this protection has been of any special advantage. Whether it has or not is perhaps a matter of little importance. It has been customary for small nationalities without any navy or military power of their own to put themselves under the wing of some great power just as Canada has been linked to Great Britain for over a century. Canada at the present time wants the privilege of having a special ambassador represent her at the capital of the United States. Such an envoy would be of immense value to Canada in bringing about a perfect understanding on many points of mutual interest on which under present conditions there might be some disagreement.

In the past the United States government has had considerable controversy with Canada, or rather with the British authorities representing Canada, over the question of reciprocity and the fisheries dispute settled in the days of James G. Blaine. It is only reasonable to suppose that between two countries so closely connected as the United States and Canada, there will always be the possibility of misunderstandings which might easily be cleared away by a special envoy at Washington.

It is to be hoped that Great Britain will offer no objection to this proposition on the part of Canada as it is apparently necessary in the ordinary mode of transacting business between adjoining nations.

SEN. LODGE AND SHANTUNG

Republican "strong men" in the senate, and particularly Senator Lodge, long noted for his familiarity with and interest in foreign affairs, are moved to tears over the "crime of Shantung." Because of Japan's acquisition of the territory that Germany grabbed from China, Senator Lodge and others would reject the peace treaty and throw the League of Nations covenant into the bonnyard.

It is more than passing strange that Senator Lodge should suddenly develop so deep an interest in China's territorial integrity after the lapse of twenty-one years during which he was silent and stone cold on that subject.

It was in 1897-98 that the international robbery was committed and Shantung passed to the possession of Germany. Senator Lodge was then in the senate, President McKinley was in the White House, the republicans were in control everywhere. Senator Teller and some leaders of the opposition party denounced the dismemberment of China and declared it to be America's duty to "join with Great Britain in a notice to Russia and Germany that dismemberment will not be permitted."

Did Senator Lodge define a similar attitude for himself? Not until the lapse of twenty-one years, then to suddenly burst into tears, to be moved to intense indignation by the transfer of a bit of territory from one international robber to another strong-arm nation whose title is at least no worse than was that of the imperialistic country Senator Lodge saw commit the original robbery without so much as hitting his voice in protest. Verily, the years have softened the Massachusetts senator's heart, but have failed to make consistency his jewel.

THE GERMAN CROWN

German papers are now bringing out the claim that the kaiser did not renounce the imperial crown of Germany. It appears in fact that in order to save him and the government, the then chancellor announced that the kaiser had abdicated before anything of the kind had actually occurred. Whether the alleged renunciation afterwards given to the press was genuine or was counterfeited as the original announcement, remains to be determined.

For all present and future purposes, however, it doesn't make the slightest difference whether the kaiser renounced the throne or whether he simply made his escape leaving the throne to anybody who might take it. At the present time the crown and the throne and the office of kaiser and the general staff and the crown prince, together with a great many of the other attributes and appurtenances of imperialism in Germany, have all been swept away, never to be restored to power or authority.

What concerns the ex-kaiser now, is not whether he will get back the crown but whether he will escape the trial as proposed by the allies, for precipitating the war and for violating the conventions of The Hague tribunal and the plainest dictates of international law. Whether he has, or has not renounced the throne of Germany will have little effect upon that ordeal.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION

It would not be surprising to find more trouble on the Eastern Street Railway system for the purpose of enforcing the demand for higher wages. The men want 75 cents per hour or an increase of 30 cents, with an 8 hour day and other conditions different from those now in force. The question is now before the War Labor Board for decision. As we have already intimated, there is urgent need for a law providing for compulsory arbitration on all corporations serving the public. When a question of wages comes in conflict between employer and employee, a strike is liable to occur just as if the public had no rights and no interests in the matter whatever. This should not be the case. The present method of having the state board of arbitration and conciliation hang around until it is called in by both sides is practically useless. This board should be abolished or else given authority to take hold of a strike or any wage controversy and settle it in a thoroughly fair and judicial manner. Until some law of this kind be enacted, the public will be at the mercy of hot headed agitators on the one hand, and obstinate corporation officials on the other.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE

While the politicians in Washington are wasting time over discussions of war expenditures, it seems that Germany and England are busy planning how to secure the trade of South American countries. Already a German commission has landed in Argentina to make arrangements for securing raw material in exchange for manufactured products. We doubt whether any practical steps have been taken by the government at Washington to control a large portion of the South American trade as we certainly should do now that we have the ships and the commodities which the South American republics need. It is one thing to have a merchant marine and another to use it to advantage.

The court trial at Pittsfield where a heartbroken mother is being tried because she killed her little 3-year-old boy while either temporarily insane or in a fit of temper at her husband, is sad and sorry enough. The woman told the arresting officer that she was a Californian and that "we are a hot blooded, impetuous people in that state." The little boy dead was the fruit of the woman's third marriage. There is some doubt as to whether Massachusetts justice will wish to blame California's climate for a crime this unrestrained, unnatural mother committed.

We read a bulletin yesterday, "Senate starts tenth week on debate of peace treaty." When we read it we were glad the American army in France a year ago this time wasn't composed of the same kind of minds as are debating the peace treaty in Washington at this time. It was felt that if they had been, it might have been a good many years before the United States senate got a chance to debate a peace treaty.

It is interesting to read what the United States shipping board says it will do in the matter of building two new transatlantic liners bigger, faster and longer than any ships yet built, but many of us will be glad to read with a view to results, some account of what the United States shipping board has done.

Dog days are enough to try the patience of a cat.

SEEN AND HEARD

One smile is worth a hundred frowns, and one frown may cost a hundred smiles.

The waiter hunting for a tip asked the diner how he found the steak, to which the diner very innocently replied: "I just moved that little piece of potato and there it was."

Dandelion Real Estate

If the Ontario temperance act is to be properly enforced in Essex county prohibition workers say, the prolific dandelion must be eliminated from pastures and back yards of the border country. Records of Windsor police court seem to bear out this contention. In less than one week ten convictions were made here for drunkenness. Eight of the offenders claimed their intoxication was due to drinking wine made from dandelions. Analysis of some of the wine seized by officers of the provincial licensing department showed it to be more "kickier" than either raisin whiskey or the genuine article, while the "hang-over" qualities of the dandelion concoction were evident from the condition of the men who appeared in court. —Toronto Globe.

Bent's Plink Elephant

Frank Hedden, a member of the Hudson County (New Jersey) Aquarium Society, crossed a Chinese Moor-black goldfish with a fish that had a red-scaled Japanese and a brown transparent-scaled Japanese for parents. The result is, says a report from Jersey City, a fish with a red body, white fins and scales, and a blue streak on its back.

And Ohio Is Dry

Somewhere in the neighborhood of the aqueduct and the ruins of Emmitts mills and the old distillery building in Waverly, Ohio, is a snake which, those who claim to have seen it declare, is all of 20 feet long and as big in diameter as a telephone pole. Two years ago this snake was seen by Gus Reed; last year another party saw it, and a few days ago Mr. Reed saw it cross the road, leaving in the dust its track, which measured ten inches in width.

Some Hens Are Easy

Mrs. Mollie Tucker, of Petersburg, Ind., had a sewing hen. One day bidy left the nest to grab off a bite of food, and the old cat carried her litter of kittens and placed them in the warm nest. When the hen returned she thought her eggs had hatched out a flock of kittens, and she has been taking care of them ever since. That, according to Mrs. Tucker, gave the mother cat plenty of time to go visit-ing. The only clashes between hen and cat come when the cat brings home a mouse and tries to smuggle it into the nest for the kittens. Pur dies then.

Cream in the Well

We all have seen a sultry spurt Along in mid-July
When gallus blunders stain your shirt As black as whiskey dye;
When jackknives rust and slideboards And lightstand doors beswell—
That's when we used to put the cream Way down inside the well.

When burdocks wilt and saltshakes balk
And ink writes through your sheet;
When robins pant and woodchucks walk
And hens lay down to eat;
When gringos crack all at dead of night,
And sometimes lambs of joll—
That's when the cream pail had to go At twilight down the well.

The last of all the chores and cares A "scorchin'" brought about,
Was running down the bulkhead stairs To fetch the cream pail out;
With water dripping from a pound Or less—no more—no less—
Or use or lose—we kept it sweet Way down inside the well.

We had a butchering gambrel 'round To lay across the top
Of Mr. Well, because we found It wouldn't rot or flop;
To this we safforded the rope For it a thing brief
That rigging, what a mess there'd be Way down inside the well.

It made a feller stop and think, To sidly down that pail;
For under the bottom struck the drink There still was time to fail;
And such glad sounds come crumpling up—
You held your breath a spell—
"Twag ticklish business putting cream Way down our deep old well.

But now the trucks come 'round and gleam
The cream, and sad but true, They've built a tank for gasoline
Inside the well I knew; There's nothing left but these old thoughts
That ring a little knell Of recollections o'er the cream
We stored down the well.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

I wonder if soldiers who served with the American army of occupation in Germany had an opportunity to talk with some of the members of the German civilian population and find out what their point of view was. I had a talk with my old friend, Priv. Peter Brukas of Walsfield, who was in Lowell yesterday on business and he says he found several Germans able to speak fluent English. One man for instance said to him, "Although we are kicked, as a nation we are the best off we have ever been. For generations we were oppressed and taxed to support a militarist party. It made our living cost twice as much as it ought to. We could do nothing. It took the great war and our nation being defeated by the allies and the United States, to remove the curse of militarism from among our oppressors. This is the reason that although we have been defeated and thousands of our men killed, we shall start the future in a condition better for the common people, than was ever the case before."

There are some streets in this city on which there is a total absence of children. Somehow the people who don't want children around have a knack of getting together in colonies. If a family having one or more children locates in such a street, there is trouble right away. The very sight of the children seems to annoy the neighbors and was betide the little one who, through childish simplicity enters a neighbor's yard if the gate were closed by a few days ago a little girl about five years of age entered the yard of a neighbor on a street leading off outer Middlesex street and was cuffed and slapped on both sides of the head by a woman who used both her hands with all her force upon the child. The little one was thrown into a hysterical condition and the parents are inquiring whether there is any remedy for such treatment of children.

Automobile truck owners of this city report that they have been kept very busy practically all the summer taking parties to the summer resorts, for most of the outings to the seashore are now being conducted in automobile trucks. Hereafter, or prior to the time that old "Bill" Bay State raised his rates, there was hardly a week, particularly during June, July and August, that there was not one or more special cars conveying excursionists to the beaches, but things have changed and trucks have been pressed into service, due, it is said, to the high cost of transportation via electric trolleys. The Thursday excursion to Revere and Nantasket under the auspices of the electric railway have been dropped and now most of those who wish to spend a day at the seashore travel by steam railroad, for what is lost in cash is made up in time. It is safe to state that unless old "Bill" comes down on his prices the truck owners and the steam railroads will keep on doing the business.

The necessity of sending the original discharge papers of the Lowell men who served in the world war to the state treasury department at Boston in connection with the applications for the $100 gratuity to be given by the state has resulted in considerable inconvenience to Lowell ex-servicemen. For instance, one young man who saw overseas service has sent his discharge paper to Boston and a few days ago had an opportunity to accept an excellent position with a local concern. One essential proviso was that he show his discharge papers, which of course, he couldn't do. He was obliged to go to much trouble before he was finally able to get a letter from a public official stating that he had been actually discharged from the service and that a record of his military career was on file in the city clerk's office. Another instance in which the absence of discharge papers is causing inconvenience is in securing buttons awarded by the war department to world war veterans through the local army recruiting station. Unless a man can show his discharge papers, he will not be given one of these buttons. The return of the papers will be awaited by many of the service men with as much interest almost as the arrival of the $100 itself.

WHAT DO THE MOVIE FANS WANT?

What is the state of mind of the average motion picture devotee in Lowell today, or in any other city in the country for that matter? What do the movie fans want? What will they not tolerate and to what extent has the great American public educated itself in the "movie" world?

These are a few of the questions motion picture dispensers ask themselves time after time. There are blue days in the movie business when the theatre man radiates despair and discouragingly asks, "Well, what do they want, anyway?" And then there are brighter days when he thinks he has correctly taken the public pulse and is running neck and neck with its emotions and whims.

Years ago the motion picture theatre going people were easy to fool and almost as easy to satisfy. If the hero was deftly dropped off the cliff several times in six reels and just as many times caught in the sheltering arms of the broad shouldered hero, that was all sufficient. Patrons craved thunder and lightning and they got it in large chunks, but they have learned, until today they are exasperatingly critical and simply will not countenance an attempt at a hoax. They still crave action, Lowell promoters say, but it is of a far different brand and must be woven about a real story with a punch.

Young stars, a clean story, beautifully screened, attractive clothes and unobtrusive action are some of the present day requisites. Melodrama of a conservative sort is still a magnet, but the knock-em-dead and drag-em-out style of yesterday does not attract. It's a strong story people want today and the action must be continuous. Two reels of action and two of stagnation will not suffice, but like everything else in this ragtime age, "pop" and jazz must keep the journey interesting.

MANAGERS OF MOY AND CLINTON CONFIDENT

Eddie Snyder manager of Eddie Moy of Allentown, Pa., who is to meet Johnny Clinton of New York here Friday night, in a letter to The Sun, says his boy is training hard for the coming bout and feels confident of stopping the New York brawler. Snyder further states that Moy is one of the best lightweights in the country and is willing and anxious to meet any man of his weight in the country. Jackie Williams, who is looking after Clinton's interest, comes to bat with a statement that his charge will put it on to Moy, and after reading both letters, arrives at the conclusion that the bout ought to be a hummer.

Young Avilla and Willie Jones who will meet in the semi-final, are training diligently for the bout. Both are hard hitters and aggressive performers and each is confident of victory. Young Griley of Lawrence and Charlie Atkins of Boston, who are scheduled to appear in the second eight-round number are fast and active boys, and their offering is bound to be a lively one. Jim Demas, a member of the local Hellenic club, who is said to be a corner will tackle Young Cox of the B. & M. car shops in the preliminary. This bout is attracting considerable interest. Matty Carney will be the third man in the ring.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

TALENT BADLY UPSET

First Choice Horses Lost in the Field in Columbus Big Line Races

COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—Columbus midsummer grand circuit meeting opened yesterday with one of the record first day attendances in the history of the July racing here. The weather was sizzling hot for the over-ware spectators and the betting sheds were better still for those of the talent who like to follow the favorites. Three events were completed before sundown and in every one of them a first choice horse had been lost in the field when the stretch barriers were down. The fourth race, the unfinished 2:18 trot, saw all three horses at all liked distanced in the first heat so the first choice had a very bad day of it. Most of the interest centered around the free-for-all pace in which three horses started. Single G sold in the auction at $100 while the small field, consisting of Miss Harris M. and direction J., sold for $15. Single G was driven by Stokes, who won the first heat in the slow time of 2:05. It was easy stepping to the half and the paces then flew home. In the second heat Fleming sent Miss M. out in front and kept her there all the way in 2:05, with Single G beaten nearly a full length.

The judges wondered whether Stokes really was trying and to whether out put Valentine behind Single G in the third heat. The only result was a faster mile and a victory for Miss Harris M. in 2:09, by a good half length.

HARVARD HONORS EMMONS

CAMBRIDGE, July 29.—Robert W. Emmons, 2nd, captain-elect of the crimson nine, has been awarded two trophies offered for individual prowess on the baseball diamond at Harvard. The advisory baseball committee today announced Emmons as the winner of the Winckler cup offered annually to the best all-around player on the team. He had previously won the Barrett Wendell bat as the nine's best batter.

Welterweight Champion Jack Britton easily defeated Ted "Kid" Lewis of England, former title-holder in an eight round bout at Jersey City last night. Britton kept off on honors in every round except the first.

The Lewiston team of the New England League, which uses a place occasionally at Spaulding park in Lowell, formally continues its merry pace in the present four-club circuit. Hayden's club turned in one of its very best performances of the season yesterday when it defeated Portland, 4 to 1, in 15 innings. The tying run was batted over in the ninth and three clatters across six innings afterward. Scanlon went the entire distance and allowed only seven hits. Morgan, who opposed him, gave six hits and fanned eight batsmen.

Cornie Mack has purchased Pitcher Bryan Harris and Catcher Glenn Mayatt of the Houston club, considered to be one of the star batteries of the Texas league.

Supporters of Single G, the black horse which seemed to stand head and shoulders above the fast pacers along the Grand circuit tracks, got a bad jolt yesterday when Fleming piloted Miss Harris M. in ahead of him in two heats at Columbus. Valentine, who replaced Stokes in the sulky seat, could not get any more speed out of the horse than the latter.

Billie Rocap, sporting editor of the Philadelphia Public-Leader, has brought suit against Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Williams bout, to recover $5000 for alleged slander and defamation of character. Rocap charges that Rickard declared that he, Rocap, attempted to blackmail him of $1000 and the Philadelphia sport writer denies this.

The Fr. Matthew G.T.A.S. of Peabody plans to conduct a 10-mile road race on August 22 in connection with a lawn party. The course will be laid out between Beverly city hall and the grounds in Washington street, Peabody. Any member of the New England A.A.A. in good standing is eligible to compete. Entries should be sent to John Devaney, P. O. Box 155, Peabody.

VICTORY FOR WILLIAMS AND WASHBURN

NEWTON, July 29.—R. Norris Williams and Watson M. Washburn won the New England sectional tennis doubles championship yesterday, defeating the Pennsylvania team of Craig Biddle and Charles S. Garland in straight sets. The scores were 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

In the singles Biddle defeated Williams in order to leave for Newport last night to prepare for next week's tournament. Harry C. Johnson, the Massachusetts champion, defeated Garland because of an ankle that was troubling him. Richard C. Harter, the Harvard star, with the score at four sets to one, retired, leaving him on the fourth defeated P. J. Sulzoway.

Summaries:

Longwood bowl singles fifth round:
N. W. Niles, Boston, defeated C. J. Shaw, Boston 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.
Richard Harter, Boston, defeated F. J. Sulzoway, Concord, N. H., 4-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, 6-1.

R. Norris Williams, 2nd, Boston, defeated Craig Biddle, Philadelphia, by default.

Today's Play

NEWTON, July 29.—Interest in the tennis singles for the Longwood bowl at the Longwood Cricket club today was increased by the participation of R. Norris Williams 2nd and Charles S. Garland, respectively, of the victorious and defeated teams in the New England doubles finals yesterday. Williams and Garland were listed to oppose Richard Harter.

The winners will meet tomorrow and the challenge round for the bowl, now held by C. Johnson of California, will probably be played on Thursday.

SPORTING BRIEFS

In his last two games, Fred Luderus, Philly outfielder and modest son of Milwaukee, has smacked the old union for seven hits and 13 total bases, which is argument enough that he can still hit big league pitching.

The White Parks and Durgins of the Sunset league clashed at Concord, N. H., last night and the W. P.'s came within two of winning as many errors as the Durgins did runs. The latter crew piled up 15 tallies, while their opponents erred 12 times. Good, fast league!

Mr. Jake Dauber, who is putting in his third season first-basing for the Putnam club, yesterday with little if any decorum yesterday, blew himself to five consecutive singles in as many trips to the platter.

Harry Carlson of Brockton has a man sized job on his hands tonight at Boston when he boxes Eddie Fitzsimmons, New York's great south paw batter.

The Call-'em

July is about to merge into August, the old baseball season is half gone and the Cincinnati Red Birds still persist in clinging to the coat tails of the New York Giants, although the latter club is one of the most fortified in the history of the game. Moran is conducting his fight with a cracker-jack ball team and a long, earnest prayer—a prayer which looks upon the gods of baseball to be kind to his first siring men—for he has no substitutes. If his shock troops fail, the sage of Pittsburgh is done. He admits it and he tells the Cincinnati fans so. They want a winner in Redville the worst way and will unhesitatingly turn over the city hall to Pat if he makes his team under the wire a jump ahead of the New Yorkers.

No Fake Hopes

But the fans of Cincinnati have not been inflated with any false hopes. They have not heard their managers say that he has the pennant clinched, but what they have heard him say is this: "We are in there fighting every day with what we have and if we are licked we will go down still fighting." Moran has no pitching staff to match McGraw's, or any array of catchers to keep pace with the Giant string of backstops, but what he has in the front line and should be each ready to step in if the black jinx stays on their trail. He would like another outfielder and an infielder and has tried for such, but the far with no success. If anything should happen to Luether or Luque—crash would go the club. If Nath, Dauber, Groh or Hough should fall into a pair of spikes good night. Cincinnati and Moran knows it. But he has half the country with him in his grand uphill fight.

Down the Dig Line

This week's grand circuit meeting at Columbus will bring together the best of the horses that are going down the dig line to fight for the real goods. The season to date has brought to the front quite a few horses that, like first class state material, but it has yet to be definitely shown who has the best one in several of the classes. There will be another make-up this week and the horses should give a better line on the horses than has thus far been shown. It now looks as though the old rivals, Tommy Murphy and Walter Cox, will have another fight for the honor of being the year's leading money winner.

Do It Right

Unless some definite system of elimination is decided upon the local amateur baseball season will pass out without any real determination of which club is entitled to the premier honors of 1919. There are a half dozen or more clubs now in the race and unless series are run, the results will be a mere guess. This paper gladly offers its space for a discussion of this question in an effort to bring about a better line on the front and will give all the time necessary if the managers of the rival clubs wish to get together personally and work out the matter and decide upon the proper course to pursue. With no league ball to interfere the rate is wide open and the opportunity to play before large crowds in a conducted series should not be foregone.

A Winner If He Falls

The contract offered "Bernie" Friberg, the Lynn English schoolboy athlete to play professional baseball with the Chicago Cubs and accepted by him, has been the greatest headline among such documents. In the first place it stipulates a salary in excess of $2500 a year. It is said and it runs at least that in the event of his failing to make the big league team he will be guaranteed a college education, which has been his greatest ambition. The Cubs have been after Friberg for nearly two years, but the lad has continued his baseball career until but recently when the offers made by the Chicago club were too tempting and he fell. The Braves, Athletics, Athletics and Giants also were on the trail of the 19-year-old star.

KLOBY TO MEET JOHNNY DONOVAN

Manager Bell of the Unity Cycle club of Lawrence could not have arranged a better main bout than the one for next Saturday which brings Tommy Kloby Corcoran and Johnny Donovan together. The battle will take place at O'Sullivan park and the boys have each posted $250 with B. J. Keane, sporting writer of the Sun American, for appearance and weight. The boys have agreed on 125 pounds and Kloby fought at the Penway A. A. in Boston a few weeks ago and it was a rattling affair all the way through.

Kloby has made a wonderful comeback and fans who saw him in the old days will never recognize him. He has been in the best of health and is in the best of shape for the work when it lands.

The semi-final is an 8-round bout between Tommy Earley and Kid Francis. The six-round preliminary will be a slam-bang bout with Jack Madden and Young's bout is an 8-rounder between Mack Murphy of Boston and Young Drew of this city.

For a Lowell resident a vacation without The Sun would be rather gloomy. Order it mailed to you while you are away.

THREE PLANES WRECKED

Terrific Storm Sweeps Over

Mineola, L. I.—Hangar

Demolished

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 29.—Three bombing planes, including the Martin machine in which Capt. Roy N. Francis planned to leave next Friday on a transatlantic flight, were wrecked by a terrific electric storm, which, sweeping over Long Island yesterday afternoon, struck a steel hangar at Hazeltown field and hurled fragments of steel for a distance of half a mile.

Capt. Francis and the other aviators at the field had been warned earlier in the day, the air service said, to try no flying owing to a forecast of bad weather by special meteorological studies which the department is making. True to the prediction, a small cyclone hit the field and the wind and lightning bolts together completed the demolition of the machine and its hangar.

Only the two motors in the plane were left undamaged, the official report said. The trip was to have begun Friday morning with the first and only stop between Long Island and San Francisco at North Platte, Neb., 1650 miles away. Some delay will now intervene before the starting of the flight, but the air service announced that if the demolished plane could not be reconstructed as is probable, another machine would be substituted.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 29.—Trading on the stock exchange today began with a number of changes in which gains exceeded declines. Dealings had little of their recent breadth or vigor and suggested increased caution by professional investors. Steel, cotton, shipbuilding and tobacco were strongest, and yesterday's advance in obscure specialties continued. St. Louis and Mexican Petroleum reflected moderate selling pressure.

Trading became active later but the movement was almost entirely down. Grains, reactions of one to five points occurred among motors, oils, steels, equipments and shipbuilding. Investment rails also easing under pressure. United Fruit was among the few striking exceptions, advancing. The United States Steel, which broke two points, was the object of special attention because of this afternoon's quarterly meeting of the board. Call money opened at 6 to 6 1/2 per cent.

The brisk rally at midday extended from one to three points starting with a demand for elevator rails, notably New Haven and Texas & Pacific. Local traction also scored appreciable gains and United States Steel made up half its loss. Tobacco was strongest of the specialties.

Pool activity in tobacco and paper issues at further advances featured the last hour, the usual leaders holding only part of their recovery. The closing was irregular.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB YOU'VE GOT TO PASS IT
WORKERS CONTEST TO THIS FELLOW

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 29.—

Middlesex county has a chance to produce at least seven all-Eastern champion teams in the 10 states contest for boys' and girls' club workers to take place here at the North Atlantic states club encampment during the Eastern States Exposition, September 15 to 20. At a meeting here of all the county club leaders in the state the Middlesex team was definitely picked to represent Massachusetts in garden judging, while the county's juvenile experts in garden, pig, poultry, calf and canning demonstration and cow judging will compete with other county teams this summer for the honor of representing the commonwealth in interstate contests in these projects. County leader Robert P. Trask who attended the conference believes Middlesex may have the largest representation at the encampment of any county in the east.

Named after Theodore N. Vail of Vermont, the encampment will assemble here 300 state champions of club work, 30 each from the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware. All-Eastern championship medals of gold, silver, and bronze will be awarded winning judging and demonstration teams in gardening, corn, potato, canning, breadmaking, cattle, pig, sheep, poultry and garment making projects.

from her recent enemy on the east; but the years immediately ahead of us contain many incalculable possibilities. The covenant of the League of Nations provides for military action for the protection of its members only upon advice of the council of the league—advice given, it is to be presumed, only upon deliberation and acted upon by each of the governments of the member states only if its own judgment justifies such action. The object of the special treaty with France which I now submit to you is to provide for immediate military assistance to France by the United States in case of any unprovoked movement of aggression against her by Germany without waiting for the advice of the council of the League of Nations but under it.

It is therefore expressly provided that this treaty shall be made the subject of consideration at the same time with the treaty of peace with Germany; that this special arrangement shall receive the approval of the council of the league and that this special provision for the safety of France shall remain in force only until, upon the application of one of the parties to it, the council of the league, acting, if necessary, by a majority vote, shall agree that the provisions of the covenant of the league afford her sufficient protection.

Bound by Ties of Friendship

I was moved to sign this treaty by consideration which will, I hope, seem as persuasive and as irresistible to you as they seemed to me. We are bound to France by ties of friendship which we have always regarded and shall always regard as peculiarly sacred. She assisted us to win our freedom as a nation. It is seriously to be doubted whether we could have won it without her gallant and timely aid. We have recently had the privilege of assisting in driving enemies, who were also enemies of the world, from her soil; but that does not pay our debt to her. Nothing can pay such a debt. She now desires that we should promise to lend her great force to keep her safe against the power she has had most reason to fear.

Another great nation volunteers the same promise. It is one of the fine reversals of history that that other nation should be the very power from whom France sought to set us free. A new day has dawned. Old antagonisms are forgotten. The common cause of freedom and enlightenment has created new comradeships and a new perception of what it is wise and necessary for great nations to do to free the world of intolerable fear. Two governments who wish to be members of the League of Nations ask leave of the council of the league to be permitted to go to the assistance of a friend whose situation has been found to be one of peculiar peril, without awaiting the advice of the league to act.

It is by taking such pledges as this that we prove ourselves faithful to the utmost to the high obligations of gratitude and tested friendship. Such an act as this seems to me one of the proofs that we are a people that sees the true heart of duty and prefers honor to its own separate course of peace.

WOODROW WILSON.

The White House, July 28, 1919.

At the suggestion of Chairman Lodge the treaty was referred to the foreign relations committee, without objection or discussion.

SEVENTY STATE STREET, BOSTON

To the 500 Lowell men now employed at Camp Devens who daily make the trip to the cantonment and back we respectfully dedicate this story of the manner in which one enterprising young Lowell man solved the transportation—or commuting problems which confronted him.

This young man, whom we must call John Dough, as he modestly refuses to allow his name to be published, accepted a position at the camp several months ago. His family lives in the city, therefore, like many local men employed at the camp, he was forced to take trolley or train to and from his work.

John Dough found that the trolley fare to Ayer was 35 cents, and that for an additional nickel he could ride up to the entrance of the cantonment. He also found that the railroad fare to Ayer was 53 cents. So he figured that trolley transportation was the one best bet and henceforth made the trip by the electric route which called for a weekly assessment of $1.50.

After a while this weekly item of $1.50 began to irritate him. So he set his wits to work on the problem of reducing the cost of his daily commuting, and here is the solution which he evolved.

He bought an auto, capable of seating seven people. Not a new one, but one that will be able to do its day's work for a long time yet without complaining. Then he contracted with six of his co-workers to transport them back and forth from the camp each day at the rate of $1 a man per week. This made a saving of 50 cents a week for the six men, and also made it possible for them to leave the city one hour later in the morning and return an hour earlier than they had been able to by trolley.

It also made it possible for him to save his own carfare, besides adding $24 dollars weekly to his income, which he figures will in a short time more than pay for the initial cost of the car as well as the upkeep.

And so John Dough solved the transportation problem for himself and his six friends, and he considers it a lucky day when he thought of the idea. And there you are.

plained that they had been unable to get funds for which they had been given receipts. He declared he took up this subject in correspondence but that he had been unable to get a satisfactory explanation. Asked if he had records of this correspondence, he said he had not, explaining that when he was placed on trial before a court martial, he endeavored to locate the records of prison farm No. 2 but was informed they had disappeared.

Denies Prisoners Beaten

He denied that prisoners at the farm he commanded ever were beaten. He said he disciplined Sergeant Clarence Ball, whom he once saw strike a man. The worst conditions at the farm resulted from a shortage of food and fuel. Many men slept in the mud on straw, he stated, and he had tried vainly to remedy conditions.

Smith told the committee that although his home was in San Diego, Cal., he had enlisted in the Arizona National Guard in 1913, and was commissioned when he went to the Mexican border in 1916. He was in charge of prison farm No. 2 from October 31, 1918, to December of the same year. While in command of the prison, he was directly responsible to Colonel Grinstead to whom he reported and who visited the farm three or four times a week and sometimes every day. Grinstead was thoroughly familiar with the conditions, Smith said.

When Smith was taken before a court martial on charges of cruelty he was convicted and sentenced to three years' imprisonment, but the term was reduced to 18 months. He was brought back from France recently and taken to the disciplinary barracks at Fort Jay, Governor's Island.

RETURNS THAT HAVE NOT BEEN FILED

BOSTON, July 29.—Some 30,000 returns on luxury taxes—soft drinks, jewelry and the like—have not been filed with the collector of internal revenue for the month of May and when field agents from the office of Collector John F. Malley start their drive next week to round up these delinquents the latter will find they are subject to a penalty of 30 per cent of the amount due.

About 3000 out of the 10,000 soda fountain proprietors have paid their taxes for May and about 10,000 of the field agents to work at once to collect the tax and to instruct the people in the ways of remitting their returns. After the tax is once paid it is felt that subsequent payments will be made on time and without confusion.

WILSON NOT TO LEAVE ON TOUR TILL AUG 15

WASHINGTON, July 29.—President Wilson had engagements today with only two democratic senators—Swanson of Virginia and Underwood of Alabama. He also was to see Representatives Alexander, democrat, Missouri, and John W. Roney, democrat, Illinois, and was to preside at the regular Tuesday cabinet meeting this afternoon.

The president may not leave Washington on his tour of the country until Aug. 15th, owing to the excessive heat. He will confer with Secretary Daniels today concerning the advisability of having the Pacific fleet await his arrival before entering San Francisco harbor.

The president had expected to leave Washington Sunday but because of the heat wave Rear Admiral Grayson and Secretary Tumulty suggested that he postpone his departure. Secretary Tumulty said the trip would be made even should the senate ratify the treaty in the meantime, as the president wanted to go to the country to explain things.

Before leaving the capital the president will clear up all pressing business. In this connection Mr. Tumulty said the president still had to assemble many documents in connection with the peace negotiations which the senate foreign relations committee has asked him to submit.

DO AWAY WITH VICE SQUADS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, July 29.—Exit vice squads. Boston is growing spottier until they aren't needed.

For a long time two men from each in-town station have worked exclusively to hold in check the social evil. It is now at such a minimum that the officers can be used to better advantage on the street in uniform.

In substance this is the understanding from high police officials. Certainly there is no fault to be found with the vice officers. They have worked hard and long and are to remain at their several stations.

Superiors do not say that the vice situation, or what is left of it, is to be handled in another way, but that it is accepted as a fair presumption. And it is going to be some relief to the policemen who have been tied to it so many weary months.

Healthy Bowels

Nine-tenths of human sickness, from infancy to old age, comes from stomach or bowels being out of order. Headaches, tired feeling, nervous depression, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness stop, if you treat the stomach and bowels right and get them into working order.

The prescription, known as Dr. Tru's Elixir, has done wonders for sick people, men, women and children, because it is the one remedy that you can rely on to set things right in the stomach and bowels.

Sold by all druggists, big or little, everywhere. Druggists, as a rule, are very honest. They do not try to substitute something else for Dr. Tru's Elixir, because they know its value. Many druggists use it in their families.—Adv.

The New Roosevelt Grammar School at Maynard

The above picture is from a photograph of the Roosevelt grammar school recently erected in the town of Maynard and planned and supervised by Architect Edward B. McGirr, 6 Beacon street, Boston. The general features of the building have already been described in The Sun.

The building is a two stories high with granite sub-base and superstructure of selected brick and natural limestone trimmings. It has 14 rooms, each 23 feet by 29. The interior is finished with the latest equipment including telephones, fire alarm, enclosed staircases and built-in wardrobes.

The school has a gravity system of heating with fresh air chambers in the basement and direct radiation in each classroom. The cost per room was $1,575 and the total cost to the town $70,000.

Architect McGirr, however, explains that the school was built on the foundation walls of a former schoolhouse destroyed by fire. The total value of the material salvaged and used in this building being about $5,000. He estimated that the cost of a similar building at current prices including foundation would be at least 10 per cent more, or $95,000.

The cost per cubic foot, interior contents, was 22 cents. We are informed by an expert on building that if similar simplicity of design and strict economy were applied in the more school addition, the cost should not be anywhere near the estimate given out from the building department.

LOWELL GIRLS TO CAMP AT PORTSMOUTH

The Lowell Community Service club for girls received word last night that an admirable summer camp in Portsmouth, N. H., situated very near the water, would be available for local use during the week of August 4 and the week of August 16. During the latter week the entire accommodations of the camp will be at the command of the Lowell club, while during the week of August 4, ten girls from this city may be sent to live with other community club girls from Portsmouth and Newburyport.

The Lowell club has diligently sought a camp since early summer, but without success and finally despaired of getting one nearby the city. The one now secured is a considerable distance away, true enough, but arrangements will be made whereby the individual cost will be slight.

The camp is known as the Sagamore club and is a beautiful building fitted for camp usage by the remodeling of a summer residence. By a lease it is the property of the Community Service clubs of Newburyport and Portsmouth, but has been sub-leased to the Lowell club for the week of the 16th, when

SUMMER days are days of endless living, kitchens too hot for cooking, cold lunches, at the homes of friends, open-air picnics, with the result that many a family is down with indigestion.

Give the stomach and bowels a new start by taking a dose of good laxative, like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Then put easily into your daily eating more warm food. It is more easily digested.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1, the latter the family size. It acts so gently and safely that it can be given even to a baby in a condition of indigestion, "summer colic," and colic, etc.

The formula on which Syrup Pepsin is based was written by Dr. Caldwell over 30 years ago. It is a combination of people laxative herbs with pepsin that trains the stomach-muscles to do their work naturally so that medicines can again be dispensed with. Over 6 million bottles of Syrup Pepsin are sold by druggists every year. That is recommendation in itself.

If you have never used Syrup Pepsin, send your address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 480 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

80 girls may be accommodated, and arrangements have been made whereby ten girls may enjoy a week there earlier in the month.

Already a half dozen girls have signed up for the week of the 16th and two or three for the limited camp. Excellent opportunities may be had for water sports, tennis and other recreative games and directors from Portsmouth and Newburyport arrange frequent parties and dances. The Lowell club officials are enthusiastic about the camp and hope every girl who possibly can will plan to go.
